TEST OF IRISH FEELINGS

COUNTY COUNCIL ELECTIONS

CAMPAIGNS ON PARTY BASIS

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received April 25, 9.15 a.m.)

London, April 24.

The opening of campaigns for municipal government elections in the Irish Free State has aroused considerable interest in Great Britain, where it is still hoped that a solution will soon be found to the Anglo-Irish dispute.

An indication of the existing state of political feeling in the Irish Free State is expected to be afforded by the County Council and the Urban District Council elections which have been fixed for June 26.

The interest arises from the fact that for the first time, the big political parties are fighting these elections on party lines.

It is, therefore, anticipated that the results will furnish evidence of Mr. de Valera's real strength in the country—whether he has gained or lost as the result of his policies in the last two years.—Reuter Special.

RACE PONY KILLED

MISHAP AT HAPPY VALLEY

JOCKEY THROWN

Sporting Life, a race pony owned by Mr. Li Tse-fang, had to be destroyed this morning following injuries received as the result of a mishap at Happy Valley.

Mr. S. A. Judah, a Shanghai jockey, had taken the pony out for a gallop at the Valley this morning, and on reaching the three-quarter-mile post opposite the Golf Club premises he pulled the animal up.

The pony, for some reason, immediately shied and made a bee-line for the rails, with which it collided and then landed on to the grass track. Severe injuries, including a broken leg and shoulder, were suffered, and there was no option but to destroy the animal.

Mr. Judah was thrown on to the cinder track, but he fortunately escaped with minor injuries.

NEWFOUNDLAND OUTLOOK

BIG RELIEF GRANTS PROPOSED

London, April 24.

Answering a Parliamentary question regarding the present conditions in Newfoundland, the Dominions Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas, said the Commissioners had not yet had time to submit any considered general report, but since the new Government in Newfoundland took office they had recommended expenditure of $400,000 on able-bodied relief in the current financial year, in addition to the $1,000,000 already incurred, and also a further $10,000 per month for relief in districts where no vegetables are available.—British Wireless.

Japan's Obligations Under Nine-Power Treaty

Signor Savich, Italian Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

ARMAMENT PUZZLE

BRITISH OR ITALIAN PLANS?

DISCUSSION IN LONDON

London, Apr. 24.

Efforts to secure a disarmament convention are not likely to be dropped as a result of the present uncompromising attitude of France.

A disarmament convention on the lines of the British Draft Convention is rendered all the more desirable by recent events.

This was the conclusion reached as the result of the conversations which are still proceeding in London between Signor Savich, the Italian Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, Sir John Simon (Foreign Secretary) and Mr. Anthony Eden (Lord Privy Seal and "Disarmament Minister").

MUSSOLINI PLAN.

Discussion has, it is understood, moved about the prospects of an agreement along the lines of the British Plan and whether there is not a greater hope of success in the Mussolini Plan.

It is known that Signor Savich expressed the view of the Italian Government that success might be attained by a less ambitious restriction of arms if the whole British Plan proves unacceptable.

BRITISH VIEW.

The British Government maintain that the Plan presents fewer difficulties than ideal limitation, because, in the first place, a number of countries have been self-denyingly keeping their armaments at a much lower level than they could permanently agree to continue, secondly, because it is very doubtful whether certain countries would agree to an investigation of their arms, resources and personnel if limitation at present levels was the aim, and thirdly, because a standstill agreement would involve the numerical limitation of all armaments over which it would be difficult to exercise supervisory control.—Reuter.

DISARMAMENT TALK IN LONDON

London, April 24.

The present situation regarding disarmament was the main subject discussed in a conversation which Signor Savich, Italian Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, and the Italian Ambassador, Signor Grandi, had to-day at the Foreign Office with Sir John Simon, Mr. Anthony Eden, Sir Robert Vansittart and Lord Stanhope.

To-night Signor Savich was the guest at dinner of the Inner Temple. Diplomatic conversations will continue to-morrow.—British Wireless.

STATE DEPARTMENT ACTIVITY

"NOT ENTIRELY CLOSING THE OPEN DOOR"

MR. SAITO EXPLAINS ONCE MORE

(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received April 25, 10.24 a.m.)

WASHINGTON, APRIL 24.

A sudden liveliness in activity in the State Department concerning Japan's "Hands Off China" pronouncement was noted to-day, coinciding with news of the Japanese Cabinet's endorsement of the informal announcement made a week ago.

In the absence of Mr. Cordell Hull, the Under-Secretary of State conferred with President Roosevelt on the development. He also had a talk with the Japanese Ambassador.

It is believed that the State Department will take official action shortly to remind Japan of her obligations under the Nine-Power Treaty.—United Press.

Washington, April 24.

Mr. Saito, the Japanese Ambassador, had a brief conversation with Mr. Phillips, Under-Secretary of State, to-day, in regard to the Japanese manifesto on China.

It is stated that Mr. Saito did not give Mr. Phillips any official communication, said, indeed, that the Japanese Government had not instructed him to visit the State Department and intimated that he did not expect the Japanese Foreign Office to send any official communication in regard to the policy for him to deliver to the State Department.

MERE "RE-STATEMENT."

Mr. Saito did, inform Mr. Phillips that Japanese officials were somewhat puzzled at the reaction created by the statement in the capitals of the world because it was merely a "re-statement" of a well-known policy.

He added that the Foreign Minister, Mr. Hirota, stated the policy in the Japanese Diet some time ago and that it then passed without comment by the diplomats of other nations.

"NOT ENTIRELY."

Mr. Saito declared that Japan had no desire and did not intend to "entirely close the Open Door" in China to other nations, but she insisted on being consulted when any foreign nation, or its nationals, had dealings with China which might be inimical to Japan.

Mr. Saito afterwards told press correspondents that he had not discussed the policy outlined with Mr. Phillips nor did he discuss any application it might have to American interests.

BRITISH ACTION.

In an interview with Reuter's Washington representative, Mr. Saito declined to comment on the action taken by Great Britain, but declared that Japan had no other aim than to have law, order and peace established in the Far East and sincerely wished China to observe the principle of the Open Door and equal opportunity.

Japan's sole anxiety is that under the lee of this principle there may be perpetrated actions that would result in added disturbance in the Far East.—Reuter.

BRITISH TRADERS ANXIOUS

Urge Government To Strong Line

London, April 24.

The Leeds Chamber of Commerce this afternoon held a special meeting to consider the situation arising out of the Japanese "Hands Off China" declaration.

A resolution was passed calling on the Government to do their utmost to protect British interests in China.

The mover of the resolution said that a strong line would have to be taken to keep the Door Open to trade in China, for if the same principles as were applied to Manchuria by Japan were applied to the whole of China, then it would be good-bye to the Chinese trade.—Reuter.

UNITED STATES NON-COMMITTAL

Bingham-Quo Report Comment

Washington, April 24.

The Under-Secretary of State, Mr. William Phillips, questioned regarding the possibility of a concerted campaign with the United States joining Britain in an attempt to iron out the Sino-Japanese situation, refused to commit himself.

In reference to the reports from London stating that the American Ambassador, Mr. Bingham, had been in conference with Mr. Quo Tai-chi, the Chinese Ambassador, Mr. Phillips declared that Mr. Bingham had been given no instructions and had not notified the State Department of any conversations he might have had with any officials.—Reuter.

OPEN GOLF UPSET

JOHN DE FOREST BEATEN

MICHAEL SCOTT HAS TO STRUGGLE

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received April 25, 9.15 a.m.)

London, Apr. 24.

The first round of the English Amateur Golf Championship, was completed over the Formby links to-day.

Sensations were not many, most of the most prominent players getting through without great difficulty. There were, however, two very thrilling games, one providing a complete upset, and the other a brilliant recovery which averted another.

John de Forest, the former British amateur champion, fell by the wayside. He was beaten by Whitson, a comparatively unknown golfer from Chester.

The Hon. Michael Scott, captain of Britain's Walker Cup team and British champion, was given a thorough scare by Schunk of Buxton. He was two down with seven to play, but he recovered splendidly, wiped off the deficit and won the match on the last hole, one up.—Reuter Special.

TANGKU TRUCE BREACH DENIAL

SECRET ANNEXES PROPAGANDA

(Special to "Telegraph")

Nanking, April 25.

In refuting a Japanese allegation that the Chinese Government has not fulfilled the obligations of the Tangku Truce Agreement, which probably refers to the non-restoration of postal and railway communication with Manchuria, a Nanking Government spokesman declared that no secret annex whatever was attached to the Tangku Truce Agreement.

He hoped that his countrymen would not be misled by such propaganda which was purposely spread by the Japanese to embarrass Nanking.—Central News.

QUARRY BAY CRIME

ALLEGED ASSAILANT ARRESTED

FOR ATTACK ON MRS. POLSON

The "brutal attack on Mrs. Sarah Polson, wife of Mr. J. C. Polson, on the night of August 2 last year at Stanley Terrace, Quarry Bay, was recalled, when her alleged assailant, Ho Man-fai, was charged before Mr. Hamilton, at the Central Magistracy this morning, with wounding with a chopper.

Hearing of the case was fixed for to-morrow afternoon at 2.15 p.m.

It will be recalled that Mrs. Polson was walking along Stanley Terrace on the night of August 2 to her home at No. 9. She was nearing her door when attacked. Her dog barked and snapped at the man, who without any warning drew a chopper from his clothing and inflicted a deep wound on her shoulder. He then slashed at her body and legs. She screamed out, and the constable took fright and ran away.

Radio Revolution Possible

EXPERIMENTS IN MICRO-WAVES

London, April 25.

A radio revolution may result from experiments now being conducted by Marconi to harness much shorter wireless waves.

He is at present engaged in the first regular communication tests using wave-lengths of 50/60 centimetres over distances of a hundred miles, between stations near Leigh-on-Sea and Gona.

Interviewed over the telephone by the Morning Post, Signor Marconi stated that they were obtaining very fair reliability in reception although not so good as he wanted.

There was no apparent difference between day and night reception, but there were other variations of which they did not yet know the cause.

He added that micro waves extended very greatly the range of wireless and would be thought to be applicable to television. They would have the advantage that there would be no interference of any kind.—Reuter.

"MARCONI DAY"

FAMOUS INVENTOR-60 TO-DAY

London, Apr. 24.

Marchese Marconi, inventor and founder of wireless communication, celebrates his sixtieth birthday to-morrow. According to a decision unanimously agreed to by representatives of over 50 countries at the Comité International Radio Maritime, April 25th will be known in marine wireless services throughout the world as Marconi Day.

The first commercial application of wireless was to ships at sea. Only thirty years ago ships were cut off from the rest of the world when they were out of sight of land. Now some 15,000 are equipped with wireless, and this is only one of the momentous changes that have developed from Marconi's discoveries.—British Wireless.

MURDER OF TWO FOREIGNERS

DEATH SENTENCE ON ARABS

GLOBE-TROTTER TRAGEDY

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received April 25, 9.15 a.m.)

Baghdad, Apr. 24. Scores of Bedouins from the surrounding desert crowded the little courtroom in the village of Diwanayah to listen the concluding stages of the trial of four Arabs charged with murder.

The case arose out of an affair which shocked the European population a little while ago, two young German-American globe-trotters, named Rudolf May and Fisher, being attacked by Arab tribesmen and killed.

The foreigners were attempting to cruise round the world in a canoe and were attacked while travelling between Iraq and India. The motive was apparently robbery.

All four accused were found guilty and sentenced to death.—Reuter Special.

STOP PRESS

London, Apr. 25. The Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent states that Sir John Simon's communication to Japan enquires in the most friendly manner about the actual authority, purpose and scope of the original Japanese statement.

It dwells on the position to which Britain is entitled in the Far East by virtue of international agreements, including the Nine-Power Treaty and the Four Power Banking Consortium, and lays it down that this position must remain unaffected by any interpretation of the Japanese declaration.—Reuter.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN

KEEP YOUR HAIR ON!

Jane Gordon Tells You How To Do It

It is a curious thing that in spite of all the beauty aids we have at our disposal we seem to suffer from more hair troubles than our mothers or grandmothers ever dreamed of. To judge from my correspondence, the modern maiden's tresses get faded or turn white at an alarmingly early age;
and my own theory about this is that short hair is the mischief-maker.

When hair was long it had to be kept thoroughly brushed at least twice a day, and this brush-ing stimulated the scalp tissues and increased the circulation.
Short hair gets comparatively little brushing, and therefore the scalp and circulation are allowed to get sluggish.

Scalp massage every day and brushing twice a day is a very simple prescription for keeping the hair a good colour and restoring the colour once it has gone. Supposing, however, the damage has been done and your hair is already faded, you can encourage yourself by using a brightening shampoo which will liven up the colour at once.

Blonde hair has a horrid trick of darkening as one grows older. To keep it blonde you can use a lemon soap shampoo. You must, however, be particularly careful to get a soap containing pure lemon oil instead of a chemical substitute, and for this you will have to rely on your chemist.

You chop up half a bar of soap and put this in a pint of cold water together with a pinch of powdered borax, and place in an enamel saucepan over a slow fire.

Simmer until the soap is melted, strain, and set aside to cool. When cold, it will form into a jelly.
You then add the white of one egg that has been beaten stiff.
Mix this through the jelly, using a fork. Wet the hair and apply a good amount of the lemon jelly.

Rinse off thoroughly and apply a second lather. Rinse two or three times. Then add a tablespoonful of lemon juice to a cupful of cold water, rub through the hair, rinse off with cool water and end with distilled water.

If the hair has actually faded you will then need a brightening shampoo. There are several reliable makes on the market. These shampoos are usually in powder form, and you can get them for blonde, bright brown, dark brown or black hair.

The best way to use them is to melt the powdered shampoo in a pint of water with a pinch of borax in it and add four ounces of chop-

IT'S WORTH KNOWING that

A chamols leather can be made as good as new if made wet with tepid rain water, then sprinkled with powdered borax, which is well rubbed in. When clean, rinse in three waters of the same temperature as the first and dry slowly.

Spirits of camphor will remove stains from mirrors and windows.
A small piece of sticking paper over the base of china pepper and salt pots is more easily removed than the usual cork.

In an emergency the outer skin of onions will act as a brown for stews and can be removed before serving.

To test a rabbit for freshness
it should be held by the hind legs.
If the head drops down and the body with it, the rabbit is better left alone. A fresh rabbit should be absolutely rigid when held out.

Talc used for stoves, car hoods, and so on, often gets yellow and discoloured. Rub with a reliable brass polish, and the result will surprise you.

The hands being stained, and a thick cold cream should be spread on the face and neck so that there may be no danger of the dye staining the surrounding skin.

CHAPTER XXXI

The morning that Billings decided to visit Morro Castle was the same one on which Marcia Treadway said to Estelle, "I suppose I really ought to see the place."

The sentence ended in a yawn. Estelle said eagerly, "I'll order the car for 11 if that suits you."

"Oh, I suppose it will," Marcia agreed. "Hand me that newspaper, will you, child? And—read my letters for me. I don't know why people want to waste so much ink and paper anyhow."

Estelle settled to open and read Marcia's letters. At the third one she paused. It was from the one friend in whom Marcia confided. This friend—knowing Marcia's quest though not the purpose behind it—had written, "Have you found your Pablo by any chance?"

Estelle looked quickly at Marcia who was studying the late-in-the-season list of arrivals in Havana and did not see the look. When Estelle went on reading her hand shook a little. What could Marcia want of Pablo? Would she recognize him if she were to see him? Estelle, continuing her reading only half-conscious of the words, thought she probably would.

She spoke up then. "This is evidently from a close friend of yours. She signs herself Jane."

Marcia was instantly alert. "Give it here, child," she ordered sharply. "I didn't know there was a letter there from her."

"The envelope was addressed with a typewriter," Estelle explained. "She is secretary to Mrs. I. Browning Bishop."

"I haven't read much of it," said Estelle. Marcia's eyes narrowed, moving down the page and coming upon the mention of Pablo. Estelle's too quickly given reassurance told that she had seen the words. It was unfortunate. Marcia could not, at the moment, think of an acceptable explanation so, with outward calm, she finished reading the letter, resolved to request Jane hereafter never to use that name again—at least in writing.

Estelle was standing. "Then you'll be ready at 11?" she questioned.

"Yes, darling."

"It's a good time for the trip. A grim day is here."

"Poetic little lumb, aren't you?" Marcia asked, amused.

Estelle turned away with more colour than usual in her cheeks. She was accustomed to being laughed at for such remarks and the laughter always made her feel lonely and young and misplaced. Pablo was the only one who did not laugh at her. He understood and often said the same sort of things himself.

Thinking of him for a moment, Estelle closed her eyes. They were to be married as soon as she was 21—two long years ahead. They knew they could not hope for Jim Field's consent to the marriage and that if they married without his consent no obstacles would stop him from seeking them out and finding them. Estelle it was who had seen the wisdom of waiting the two years and who had insisted upon it. There were times when she wondered at her own strength in making this decision but even then she clung to it.

At the edge of Morro Castle Billings stepped from the car he had hired for the morning. "Ouch!" he groaned loudly. Then he climbed the hill stiffly and, on the way up, acquired a guide.

A smartly attired, hard-faced woman and a slender girl passed by, walking briskly and easily. "The young one is the daughter of Mr. James Field," said the guide, nodding toward the couple.

"Is that so?"

"Yes. She is the beloved of Juanito, the fighter. They meet in the Parque."

"You don't say so!" Suddenly Billings was interested.

"Ah, yes! But Havana smiles upon the affair. Her father, Field, is very bad. The daughter is an angel and Juanito a good, good young man!"

"About how old is he anyway?" Billings asked as if to make conversation.

"Twenty-one or two, I would suppose. Ah—he is a wonder! A Stoic, a Spartan. He shakes the head to many ladies who seek him." To illustrate the guide shook his head as does an absent-minded individual, vaguely troubled by the buzz of a fly. "Always Juanito remains not in love until she comes. Then—ah! He is captivated. He succumbs completely! It is a pretty affair and all wish him luck."

"Why doesn't he go to the old man and ask for the girl?" Billings questioned between puffs. The coquina-paved grade was steep. Twenty-one or twenty-two—that was the right age. Hang it, he was getting excited about the affair! His heart had plunged as he heard the boy's age.

"Go to him? To Field? Field would buy a nobleman for his daughter to wed! Good or bad, it would not matter."

"Hum—" said Billings. They were in the fort then and under the shadow of a great wall. "Here," the guide began oratorically, and then suddenly stopped. He said in a harsh whisper, "There is Juanito himself. He must have followed her here! They say he trails the car when she rides in it!"

"Where?" asked Billings.

"The guide nodded. "Let's mozy over there. Easy and casual like."

"Mozy?" the guide echoed stupidly.

"Vamos. Move along. I want to get near him but don't want to be caught. See?"

"Ah, the intrigue!" The guide smiled, showing a flash of white teeth. He took up his lecturing, perhaps a little over-loudly. "If the Senor will step this way I will show him—"

Billings stood quite near to Pablo as he looked at a spot in the wall where, the guide said, a patriot had once dislodged a stone to find a way to freedom. Billings studied the young man casually. A darned good-looking young fellow, he was. Tall and broad of shoulder with clear, blue eyes. He seemed to be watching the gate as though looking for someone. Then Billings saw the two women who had passed him nearing. The one who was Field's daughter lagged so that for a moment she was behind her companion. Billings saw her shake her head violently at Juanito.

He neared the young man. "Pretty rough time they had here, wasn't it?" he asked Pablo. No one brought up near Clenfuegos, Billings knew, would speak English without an accent. He waited Juanito's reply tensely.

"Yes, very bad," Billings heard and knew that the story about Tia Julia and Clenfuegos was a lie.

"This is my first trip here," he confided. "I think we kind of thought in the United States that all that happened in this war was Roosevelt riding around with his boys."

"Is that so?"

"All before your time, I guess." The boy was looking after the girl. He had not heard.

"They say," Billings continued louder, "a stranger ought to see Clenfuegos, too."

"Oh, yes. Quite a sight."

"I have a friend who has a sugar place near there. His name is Green. Josiah Green. I wonder if you can tell me which way his place lies? I want to look him up."

Juanito said absently that he was sorry but he could not. Now Billings was utterly certain that the story about Tia Julia was a lie. He had learned the day before that Josiah Green's plantation was a large and famous one. Any boy reared at Clenfuegos would know of Josiah Green.

"Well, I'll ask elsewhere. Thanks just the same," Billings said. Then with great interest, contrasting sharply with the indifference of his other words, he put a question to the guide about how many—exactly how many—

How he and his comrades had been handcuffed day and night for five months since their world-famous trial on charges of setting fire to the Reichstag was what the Bulgarian Communist Dimitroff (pointing to himself) was telling a newspaper correspondent when this picture was taken in a Moscow hotel. Sitting on either side of Dimitroff are his fellow defendants Popoff (left) and Tanoff; all three of whom were acquitted.

An infuriated mob of taxicab strikers that had swept through New York streets in an orgy of violence and destruction, found police prepared to resist them when they descended on Times Square to intimidate after-theatre throngs. In these scenes during the "reign of terror" you see (at top) police breaking up a group of defiant strikers, (lower left) the ruins of a cab after strikers had burned it, and (at lower right), a policeman with bared nightstick giving the order to "move on".

Latest entry in the world race for large air-liners is the giant plane Scylla, pictured during its construction in Kent, where there were no hangars large enough to house it. The ship will carry 43 passengers.

Tragedy struck another French home as the result of the Stavisky scandal when Judge Albert Prince was murdered as he sat about to testify on the legal side of the sensational case. Pictured in Paris as they left memorial services for the slain jurist are his widow and son Raymond, who vowed to make public the names his father was to reveal "in spite of the terrible responsibility it involves, which may cost me my life."

MYSTERY MONSTER CAPTURED

GIANT WOMBAT IN ZOO
The mystery monster which has been terrifying the inhabitants of the Gippsland, Victoria, has been captured. It is neither a lion nor a dingo, nor a panther as reported. It is a giant wombat with a peculiar gait which left huge footprints quite different from the rest of the species. A constable on wireless patrol made the capture and his "find" now rests safely in the Melbourne zoo.

and damnation are still out of telegraphic range. Sir Stafford Cripps is a large, beefy, good-natured, companionable Englishman, fond of middle-class comforts—a man who would not knowingly hurt one of God's creatures and who might be expected to show mercy even to a rentier parasite.

Moreover, he has sworn that he will not enter a Labour Government which takes office without absolute power—in other words, without an absolute majority over all other parties.

That gives us at least ten years of respite. And in ten years' time Sir Stafford himself will be ten years older, perhaps ten years wiser.

Sir William Peel, Governor of Hongkong, who is visiting Tokyo, was the guest of honour at a luncheon party given by Mr. Koki Hirota, the Foreign Minister of Japan, in his official residence. Officials of the British Embassy in Tokyo, including the Counsellor, Mr. Wilfred Bertram Cunningham, among whom was Mr. Jukuro Kado, Japan's chief delegate to the Indo-Japanese trade negotiations in New Delhi, were present.

PRISON RECORDS
DISAPPEARCONVICT TRAGEDY
MYSTERY

Sensational disclosures that prison records had not been kept for a period coinciding with the time the prisoner might have been assaulted, were made at the continued inquiry before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Central Magistrate's yesterday afternoon, into the death of Wong Yat, a prisoner who was serving one month's hard labour at Victoria Gaol.

The Jury sitting on the inquiry comprised Messrs. F. C. Collico (Foreman), H. A. Barros and E. I. Rozario. Mr. J. W. Franks, Superintendent of Prisons, was also present in Court.

Dr. A. D. Wong, Assistant Medical Officer of the Government Civil Hospital, said he recollected Wong Yat being brought in about 3 p.m. on March 26. He examined the prisoner and formed the opinion that at least two ribs were broken, and directed that an X-ray examination be made. Wong Yat was made comfortable in bed and treatment was given to stop the pain. The prisoner told him somebody had struck him, but did not talk much. He did not think it was a mental case.

Statement Alleging Assault.

Mr. D. E. Wood, hospital supervisor, said that on March 26 about 12.45 p.m. at the end of the sick parade, Wong Yat came into the medical officer's room. He heard the medical officer ask him in Chinese what was the matter with him. Wong Yat replied that he was in pain. Witness then turned round and saw the man holding his shirt open. The medical officer examined him, and asked him whether anyone had struck him. Wong Yat, in a hesitant way, said, "Yes, a prisoner struck me." Witness translated that statement to Dr. Griffiths. Dr. Griffiths then asked Wong Yat who struck him, and the man shook his hand and said "no, no, no." Dr. Griffiths then asked witness to telephone the Chief Warder.

Mr. G. L. Buchanan, Chief Warder, recalled, said he received the telephone message about 1.10 p.m. He immediately telephoned the Assistant Chief Warder, and asked him to get an official interpreter and take a statement from Wong Yat before he was removed to hospital. Witness saw Wong Yat about 2.45 p.m. in the ambulance, and asked him what was the matter, but the man made no reply.

Mr. A. Paice, acting Assistant Chief Warder, said that in consequence of a telephone message he went to the gaol office and called Mr. Lu Chung-wah, the gaol interpreter, and went with him to the gaol hospital. He went to Wong Yat, and asked Mr. Lu to question him regarding his injuries. Witness understood Wong Yat to say he had been assaulted in a cell. He mentioned a man named Ho, and said the assault had taken place on Sunday, April 25, about 3 p.m. He added that he shouted out "Save life," but no one came to his assistance. Witness said the man Ho could not be traced.

Prisoners Traced.

Mr. T. Murphy, A.S.P., watching the proceedings on behalf of the Police, said that all the prisoners had been traced except two, who had left prison. No prisoner by the name of the Ho had been in the cells.

Mr. Buchanan added that they had definite records up to March 24, but as to how Wong Yat had got to cell 26 they had no record. This was going to be a matter of departmental inquiry. They had some prisoners who definitely stated that Wong Yat was in cell 26. Mr. Paice, continuing his evidence, said that he referred to the location books and found that certain prisoners had been located with Wong Yat. He got two of them up before Wong Yat for an identification parade, but he did not identify anyone. Instead, he spoke rather foolishly, by saying that all of them, namely the two prisoners and three others who had been put with them for the purpose of identification, had assaulted him.

Warder P. J. Le Tissier said that between 6 and 7 p.m. on March 19, he located Wong Yat in cell 29 F 11 ward. There were three other prisoners, 2992, 2993 and 2994, with him in the cell. Altogether 28 prisoners came in that evening. There were 12 or 14 cells in that ward.

Records Missing.

Chief Warder Buchanan, recalled, said that according to the prison records Wong Yat was removed from cell 29 to cell 22 F 4 on March 20, probably in the afternoon. He stopped there until the morning of March 24. On March 20 there were with Wong Yat in cell 22 prisoners 2994 and 3003. On March 21 prisoner 2955 was also located with them in cell 22. From March 22 to March 23 there was no change. On March 23 (morning) prisoner 3079 was located in cell 22 and 2955 was transferred to another cell. There was no change until the morning of March 24. Wong Yat then went for his scabies bath, and returned to his cell about 3.30 a.m. There were no records after that to show how he got into cell 26. From statements of other prisoners, he was in cell 26 on March 25.

Mr. Hamilton: It is either an amazing coincidence, or else it is something sinister. These records were not kept for 48 hours from March 24.

Prisoners With Deceased.

Replying to the Coroner, Mr. Murphy said that the cell 26 was shared by prisoners Nos. 3003 (Chan King-yiu), 2995 (deceased), 3017 (Lai Chung) and 2993 (Leung Lin-kut).

The Coroner: If these numbers are correct, and if Wong Yat was speaking the truth, that he was assaulted on Sunday afternoon, about 3 p.m., then it must have been one of those who did it.

Mr. Murphy mentioned that prisoner 3003 was at present undergoing four months' hard labour, having been sentenced on March 19. The other two prisoners, 3017 and 2993, had been discharged, but the Police might be able to get hold of them. They had not been deported as both were short term prisoners. No. 2993 was at Court at the last hearing, but did not turn up yesterday. He was just over 16 years of age.

The Coroner: He is only sixteen?

Mr. Murphy: That is the age he gave to the Police.

The Coroner (to the Jury): I suggest that it is no good going through the mass of detail before the evening of the 23rd, and the morning of the 24th, and that is 24 hours outside Dr. Thomas' time for the injuries to have been inflicted. I suggest for your consideration that we start from the afternoon of the 23rd and go on with the full detail.

The jury agreed to this course. The hearing was then adjourned to May 14 at 2.15 p.m. and the Coroner also reserved the afternoon of May 15.

CONTROL OF FOOD

QUESTIONS AT SANITARY BOARD MEETING

Several questions regarding the control of food in the Colony were asked by Dr. Li Shu-fan at yesterday's meeting of the Sanitary Board.

Present at the meeting were Mr. R. A. D. Forrest, (President), the Hon. Mr. R. M. Henderson (Vice-President), the Hon. Mr. N. L. Smith (Secretary for Chinese Affairs), Dr. J. M. Gray (Medical Officer of Health), Messrs. Wong Kwong-tin, F. C. Hall, L. C. F. Bellamy, Dr. Li Shu-fan, Mr. C. J. Roe (Secretary) and Mr. Im Ping-tseung (Assistant Secretary).

The questions asked, together with the answers made by the president, were as under:

(a) Is it a fact that the Sanitary Board is the sole authority for the control of food, including markets?—No.

(b) (i) Are stalls situated within premises for the sale of cooked meat such as roasted pork, ducks etc. under licence by the Board? (ii) If not, by what other authority if any?—There is no licensing or special control by this department of shops for the sale of cooked meats, except where such food is sold for consumption on the premises.

(c) (i) Are the so called Eating Stalls or stalls for the sale of cooked food situated outside premises under the Board's control or licence?—No.

(c) (ii) If not, under what authority or authorities? (ii) If not, is there any specific reasons for such stalls not to be under the Board's control and licence?—These are under the control of the Police Department with certain exceptions controlled by the Secretary for Chinese Affairs. The Sanitary Department is unable to interfere.

(d) Is it a fact that the Sanitary Board is the sole authority for the licensing of Eating Houses?—Yes.

(e) Is it a fact that the Sanitary Board is not the authority for the control and licensing of restaurants?—Yes.

(f) If the answers to questions (d) and (e) are in the affirmative, is there any good and sufficient reason for the restaurants not to be under the Board's control and licence?—Chinese Restaurants sell alcoholic liquor and are therefore placed under the control of a Licensing authority, which regards the licensing of such premises from other aspects than hygiene alone. The Sanitary Department visit, and report on, the sanitary condition of the premises annually, before the issue of new licences, and from time to time. These visits are to ensure that the standard of cleanliness is being maintained.

Non-Chinese Restaurants such as the large European Hotels are under the same control. In other words the Sanitary Department is concerned with the sanitary condition of the premises, to exactly the same extent as it is with Eating Houses. In the case of Eating Houses the control is direct, and with Chinese Restaurants the control is indirect.

The remainder of the business transacted was of a formal nature.

EMPIRE FAIR DECISION

Opinion will probably differ in regard to the decision to hold no British Empire Fair in Hongkong this year. The announcement, coupled with an indication of the improbability of such an event being held in 1935 or 1936 either, does occasion some surprise. British business houses cannot complain, since, strangely enough, it is from this quarter that the decision has emanated. The main ground for deciding not to repeat the experiment at present, is that the capital expenditure would be too heavy a charge in these times of depression. Doubt is also raised as to the compensating advantages, when contrasted with the time, trouble and expense involved. On the former point, the financial burden surely cannot, in view of the Government subsidy, be abnormally heavy, while in regard to the latter it is hardly reasonable to count on immediately apparent results: the psychological effects of such an exhibition, from the advertising point of view, should not be overlooked. Moreover, experience has shown that when times are bad it is unwise to curtail enterprise. The words put into the mouth of George Arliss in a recent film shown in Hongkong may be quoted here: "You can't run a business by lying down on the job; when a business is running down, that's when you've got to spend money; you've got to advertise."—So it is in times of depression—those are the very times that call for extra energy and harder work. Frankly, we feel that our business men are allowing themselves to give way to enervate by deciding against an Empire Fair and, what is more, by contemplating no such effort for three years at least. That is not the spirit in which to fight the depression. We decline to believe that the last two Fairs produced no beneficial results. The real need, it seems to us, is not for restriction of endeavour along these lines, but for bigger and better trade exhibitions. Even if the benefits cannot be immediately assessed, the cumulative effect must be good. There is even room for something in the nature of a permanent exhibition, which to wholesale firms would serve the purpose of a shop-window. Admittedly, it is too late now to organise an Empire Day Fair for this year, but there is no reason why, if a little energy and enthusiasm is displayed, an exhibition should not be held in the next cool season and be repeated every year on progressively comprehensive lines.

NOTES OF THE DAY

HANDS OFF CHINA!

The endorsement by the Saito Cabinet of the "Hands off China!" pronouncement carries Japan's challenge a stage further. No longer is it possible to minimise the seriousness of the Japanese declaration of policy on the ground that the informal manner in which the warning was delivered might be considered as reducing its force. Even the more moderate tone apparently adopted by Mr. Saito, the Japanese Ambassador in Washington, fails to relieve anxiety. Despite his insistence that Japan has no intention of infringing upon the principle of the Open Door, his explanation of what Japan does require of other Powers runs into direct conflict with the principle. All indications point to another venture into Manchuria tactics; reassuring words and actions that speak louder.

DEFIANCE OF THE ISOLATED

Cabinet endorsement is a bad sign from another point of view. Falsifying any claim to wisdom and statesmanship, the step seems neither to exemplify Japan's implacable resentment at the feeling of isolation in world affairs visited upon her since the Manchurian Adventure. The trial balloon should have convinced Japan that her tentatively-announced programme is to be anything but easy sailing. The sharp response of the world in disapproval has merely strengthened the determination of Japan's leaders to go on with it. There is only one end to decisions guided by motives such as these—resistance and clash. Unless we believe in the possibility of wretched defeatism in the attitudes of the United States and Great Britain.

FILM REVOLUTION?

The impetus gained in the United States in the drive against the system of block-booking in the cinema world is of general interest. The campaign has reached the stage where legislation has been prepared and placed before Congress providing for the abolition of this trade practice. Strong pressure is being exerted and if the challenge succeeds it will mean a large readjustment in the making and exhibiting of films, which should react favourably in all parts of the world. Obviously, if block-booking is banned in the United States, there will be little purpose in perpetuating the system elsewhere. The process of change may furnish many difficulties as block-booking is a sort of insurance for the producers enabling them to proceed with film-making on the basis of hundreds of signed contracts, but when the necessary adjustments are made, it will probably be found to be more profitable for all concerned.

ENGLISH SYSTEM

That it is possible to make and distribute motion pictures on a considerable scale without the block-booking system has been proved in England, where the system was abolished several years ago. It is freely stated that this change in England has brought about a betterment in the quality of British-made films. On the other hand, the American producers offer figures to show that in any case the better films obtain under the percentage system that is now largely in operation, rather than straight rentals, the producers have every reason to make pictures that will please as large a number of spectators as possible.

MANY RAMIFICATIONS

The subject has many ramifications which the present congressional hearing is bound to do something to clarify. Meanwhile, various organisations have entered upon a determined campaign against the block-booking system, charging it with responsibility for a great deal that is undesirable in current film fare. Mrs. August Belmont, president of the Motion Picture Research Council, has definitely named block booking as the point of attack. The council is now publishing its findings in a series of books after four years of research. Mrs. Calvin Coolidge and Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of President Roosevelt, have recently become honorary vice-presidents engaged in the active work of the council. Block booking of films obviously is due for a thorough airing.

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS

By A. J. CUMMINGS

THE most dangerous revolution-ary in England! My hand should tremble as I write these words of this Deadly Human Menace.

In spite of the dull solemnity of most of his public utterances, Sir Stafford Cripps has a well-developed sense of humour; and I am sure he must laugh rather like a demon in the pantomime when he reflects on the error he has inspired in the breasts of so many of his God-fearing, law-abiding fellow-countrymen. Communists despise him for a manly-mouthed reaction-ary. Bourgeois England has been taught to regard him as a breaker-up of precious institutions, as an enemy of the Crown, as Stalin diabolically made up to look like an expensive and rotund King's Counsel, as a Socialist bank burglar, as a political highwayman who will hold at the pistol-point every citizen in the land with more than a finger in his pass-book or a hundred in Consols.

He is good business for Tory politicians, who think he will come in very usefully at the next General Election as a living substitute for the obsolete Red Letter. Respectable Liberal politicians, with far less to hope for than the Tories from a new Socialist bugbear, are much more genuinely shocked than Tories at Sir Stafford's alleged disrespect for democratic liberties.

Even a great many exceedingly proper members of the Labour Party are horrified at some of his speeches; and all sophisticated members of the Labour Party, whether they agree or disagree with his theories of action, are thoroughly alarmed at their possible effect upon an impressionable electorate. In fact on at least two occasions Sir Stafford has been taken gravely to task in private by the Labour hierarchy and warned that if he does not stop emulating the Fat Boy of "Pickwick" he will ruin Labour's chances at the polls and his own prospect of political advancement.

Sir Stafford promised to be a good boy. But while he possesses many admirable qualities he still has a little in common with those unfortunate persons who do not know precisely what they are going to say when they get up to speak, or precisely what they are saying while they are on their feet, and have no precise recollection of what they have said when they sit down.

Why is there all this fuss and bother about Sir Stafford Cripps? What has he actually said or done to bring it about? Whatever he has said or done, is his standing as a politician of sufficient importance to cause alarm or to make it necessary that he should be taken seriously?

He is the prosperous son of a respected English lawyer, who joined the first Labour Government and became Lord Parmoor. Like his father, he is a devout Church-man. He is married to a rich wife and makes a great deal of money at the Bar. The Labour Party being still short of high-class legal talent, he was given an early political leg-up by his appointment as Solicitor-General in the last Labour Administration. In that role he discharged his duties with such marked efficiency that he was spoken of on all sides as a coming man.

I cannot discover that in those days he expressed any firebrand views. Soon after the collapse of the Labour Party he began to pull out the rough stuff. He was quick to see that if the stricken working-class movement were to be roused from its state of political lethargy and scepticism it must first be tickled with political tall talk.

The Intellectuals of the Socialist League, which stands on the left of official Labour, stretched out eager hands towards him; and he became, almost before he was aware of the fact, the platform exponent of a Socialist policy which in this country of timid compromise is condemned as a matter of course by every decent Englishman as virulent extremism. Then, as soon as it began to be suspected that Sir Stafford's views might express Labour's real intention and that he was no negligible candidate for leadership, the attacks on him developed into apoplectic seizures.

I am inclined to doubt, however, whether Sir Stafford's teeth have a much deeper bite in them than those of other less indiscreet Labour leaders. He is much too reasonable with his critics. He is far too ready to explain himself away. He gives the impression that he is thinking clumsily in public.

Yet, with all his mental side-steps, there appears to be a set purpose at the back of his mind. Neither his speeches nor his writings are models of lucid and logical expression. But his central argument seems to be that if the Labour Party returns to office—and it must not be office without power—the only way in which it can protect itself from a recurrent failure is through swift dictatorial measures, paralysing Conservative opposition and establishing at once a Socialist order defended by the strength of the police and military forces. The logical implications of such an objective are the final breaking-up of the Crown and other landed estates, the capital levy and similar drastic measures.

It is highly improbable that any Labour Government, with or without Sir Stafford Cripps, will begin to sprout in patches but not where we were; and over the shrill sirens of the ships at sea came the wistful love call of the flat fish doing marine somersaults in the ecstasy of the spring.

Taking our courage in one hand and a towel in the other we plunged furiously into the brine immersing our ankles in the toes and revelling in the freshness of the water. This was LIFE—life with a capital hell.

There is no cause for an explosion of public hysteria at this information. National disaster

The Very Idea!

LETTER TO HOME

By George

Dear Aunt,
Just a line hoping it finds you as we are at present—if at all.

We feel a little bit nervous telling you about our life as an Empire Builder but as you will probably have kicked the bucket long before Stella Benson's diary causes this Colony to be regarded as the plague spot of the Far East, we will be bold:

First of all we would like to contradict the suggestion that we are not happy here. We are desperately happy thinking what a good time we will have when we leave, and if we don't ever leave we can always retire to the last health resort here, Happy Valley.

The place is pretty hot but you can't blame it all on the sun; on the other hand it is also pretty wet, but the atmosphere is not entirely at fault.

The place could be improved if there were a few Englishmen here but if you take your Yorkshireman with Scotch you can make a pretty strong combination. We are not suggesting that the Scotch here is of the milk and water variety; far from it. It would be great to hear our native tongue again. Even the Chinese speak their own dialect with a Scotch twang now.

We wonder why so many Scots leave home and get maudlin about it?

Perhaps it is because competition among themselves cannot be made to pay. We can understand a Yorkshireman going some place where he can decently refuse to eat Yorkshire pudding.

"This is all for now, so we will bid you God's speed 'Arthurs, GEORGE."

THESE HECTIC DAYS.

We really do not know what the world is coming to. To use the dear old phrase that "it reads like a sensational novel," simply will not do. Novelists are left hopelessly behind. In future the highest praise for a sensational novel should be, "It reads almost like a few bits from the news selected from any week."

AT REPULSE BAY.
It was early in the morning (last week) at Repulse Bay.

A thin film of ice appeared to cover the water as far as the eye could see and just beyond that were a few ice bergs.

We were alone on that vast sandy waste, naked into the beauty of the dawn—and wishing to goodness we were still in bed.

The rocks which had been sharpened and pointed by the winter months, gleamed their brightest for us; the sand had begun to sprout in patches but not where we were; and over the shrill sirens of the ships at sea came the wistful love call of the flat fish doing marine somersaults in the ecstasy of the spring.

Taking our courage in one hand and a towel in the other we plunged furiously into the brine immersing our ankles in the toes and revelling in the freshness of the water. This was LIFE—life with a capital hell.

It was too cold for jellyfish and after all we weren't jellyfish. We crept back to our matched, back to the comfortable proximity of the cockroach and the spider and there restored our circulation with iodine and judicious patting on the back. Hours later when we had tramped the intervening miles back to the City we felt that conscientious glow that comes to the man who has done his stuff.

We took a hot bath and creeping back to bed fell asleep dreaming that we really had gone bathing at Repulse Bay and wishing to goodness someone would wake us up so that we could start.

Nobody has yet asked the question: "Would British films be brighter if our stars had more divorces?" (It would set well to music).

CUP FINAL PROSPECTS: WHAT I THINK—"PILGRIM"

IN THE WARS:—Crows, the West Bromwich Albion goalkeeper, receives attention after being slightly injured against Chelsea at Stamford Bridge.

WITH THE LEAGUERS

CHELSEA AND ARSENAL IN GREAT LONDON "DERBY"

PENSIONERS' CHANCE TO REMAIN IN FIRST DIVISION

BOLTON WILL PROBABLY MAKE THEIR PROMOTION CERTAIN

(By "The Pilgrim")

Something of the flavour of great battles of old between Woolwich Arsenal and Chelsea will attach to their game this week-end although it will still be a fight against relegation on the part of the latter.

The Londoners, although safe with the League championship, will play their usual game—to collect points anywhere—and with the much improved attacking line which the Stamford Bridge force have lately brought into play, the match should attract a goodly crowd to the Chelsea venue.

Newcastle have much deadlier opposition in their visit to Stoke where clubs of wider renown than the Tynesiders have been laid low. Birmingham, the other closely interested team in the danger zone, go to Leicester where if they can display the brilliant form which beat the Spurs, they will at least temporarily relieve the situation.

Swansea and Manchester United, between whom lies the choice of a companion for Lincoln on the down trip to the Third Division meet at Old Trafford where it may be that the issue will be decided.

Much more interesting, however, is that other fight at the top end of the table where Bolton and Preston, both confidently anticipating home wins, are engaged in a duel of goal averages.

BOLTON FAVOURED.

Should one of them falter, the other is pretty sure to join hands with Grimsby on the glad trail upwards, but even yet Brentford may have a finger in the pie. Preston have the most difficult task; they have to maintain their wins against Southampton whose home citadel is reckoned one of the safest in all the League.

All things considered, Bolton should carry the day—and regain their First Division status after only one season down below.

The same cannot be predicted of Chesterfield, gambling with points in the Northern Section.

Standing second now on goal-average, the Salford side have done everything to risk the perfectly sound position they occupied only a month ago. I can well recall a similar exciting position to the present a couple of seasons ago when I believe it was Tranmere Rovers who defied wrestling until the last match of the season.

Buoyed up with enthusiasm and lots of punch the Centrefoldians won their last match by about seven goals and entered the Second Division.

I wonder whether this season will see a repetition of those thrilling games. Looking at the fixtures I can see that Chesterfield have by far the most strenuous run to travel and if they do not arrive safely they will have thrown away their promotion chances by folly.

Real "clashes" lost at home aggravated their supporters and lost valuable points.

BARNESLEY MAY MEET THEIR WATERLOO.

Both Barnsley and Chesterfield should make certain of the brace this week but on May 5, the latter have to go to Stockport who may be then also have a promotion interest, and will in any case be a tremendous nut to crack. Barnsley meet the comparatively easy New Brighton club but perhaps the New Brighton eleven may get together to settle the issue themselves.

On reflection that is more than a mere suggestion. It may well be that Barnsley will fall at New Brighton the same as Northampton triumphed at Huddersfield! The Southern Section victors were assured on Saturday and from the competitive point of view there is no more interest except in Cardiff who have still a chance of selling the dummy to Bournemouth.

Motherwell's second accession to the Scottish throne will be short-lived now that Rangers have stowed away one trophy in their already well-filled chest and have time to turn their attention to the double.

Motherwell have completed their quota of matches and are only a point ahead of Rangers who have three more matches to play.

Interesting Items About Clubs & Players

PLAYING with Southport are two players named Jones, the brothers William and Archibald Pickering, and two half-backs both named Thomas Holmes. Awkward for the football writers!

DIXIE Dean is back in Everton's reserve team after two runs with the League side following his cartilage operation. He still needs time to get back to his old form.

OF all the eighty-eight League clubs only two still have the same secretary or manager they had before the war, Fred Everiss and Robert Jack having been in charge of West Bromwich and Plymouth Argyle since 1903 and 1909 respectively.

TEN years with the same Third Division club—Alf Jones, Wrexham's captain and full-back. He has played in 420 League games.

BRISTOL Rovers have done a good stroke of business in persuading that eighteen-year-old local inside left, Albert Edwards, to become a professional. He is a deadly shot.

IN a recent minor game between Allendale and High Spens Welfare in Co. Durham five goals were scored direct from corner kicks.

SHEFFIELD Wednesday are to reorganise their team. "We are going to have one of the best sides in the country," says Manager Walker.

STOCKPORT are running their present successful team on a weekly wages bill of about £55.

A team composed entirely of players named Giles took part in a recent match at Cricklade, near Swindon.

CITY'S DEFENCE TO BE SEVERELY TESTED

BUT MY VOTE GOES TO THE LADS FROM MANCHESTER

CLASSIC FOOTBALL PROMISED TO 90,000 FANS

(By "The Pilgrim")

WEMBLEY fans are due for one of the greatest football entertainments that the coveted trophy has ever called forth when Manchester City and Portsmouth meet there on Saturday to decide possession of the F. A. Cup. Every year the ninety odd thousand make their pilgrimage and seldom are they disappointed.

If the signs and portents are a true guide, the 1933-34 season will close with a cup final exhibition of class against class, with a little extra polish for experience in the case of the veteran Citizens.

Right here I will place my vote for Manchester City as thousands of others will, for as fighters in the particular type of play which this competition demands, the Midlanders have won their laurels.

The City have on their side a powerful combination which has carried them well up the League table; has brought destruction to the hopes of the other cup favourites, Aston Villa; and has taken them past the challenges of Stoke City, Wednesday, and Hull.

TEST FOR CITY'S DEFENCE

Their goal average however is 59 for and 69 against which would inspire confidence were it not that Portsmouth's League record is inferior.

At the beginning of the season the critics pointed askance at the City's defence and their doubt has been justified. It remains to be seen whether the classic movements of their rival will outstrip their rearguard.

Portsmouth opened the 1933-4 season with a host of new players and they chose well. The team has kept together with few changes and had they not such a strong interest in the cup they would probably have been in the running for the League championship.

Whilst Manchester City have appeared in the semi-finals five times, the final three times once being successful against Bolton Wanderers in 1904, Portsmouth have only appeared in one semi-final and final. That was in 1929 also against the Wanderers who beat them 2-0.

The City will be anxious to make good the reversal they received in the final round at the hands of their fellow county-men, Everton, last year. They have been unfortunate in being pipped on the post twice within recent years, Bolton being responsible in 1926.

INTERESTING ITEMS ABOUT CLUBS AND PLAYERS

THE future of several Arsenal players is in the balance. Centre forward James Dunne has not shown the form which made his name, and there is the suggestion that the air of the south does not agree with him.

HUGHIE Gallacher has taken over the role of penalty kicker for Chelsea very successfully in the absence of Tommy Law, who usually officiates when "spot" concessions are granted.

IT is curious, but neither of the two Mills—George, an Englishman, with Chelsea, and Hugh, a Scotsman, with West Ham—can find his way into the League side, though both were highly rated at the beginning of the season.

IT is said that 31,000 more spectators have paid for admission to Clapton Orient's home League matches compared with last season. This gives an average of about 2,000 more per game.

MANCHESTER City's longest thrower-in from touch is Brooks (outside left). Whenever the ball is to be thrown in near the corner flag on his side he does the job, and usually manages to put the ball up to the near post.

WEST Ham want to dispose of some of their players who have not been much before the public this season. Negotiations are in progress.

BRENTFORD want a new centre half. They have been watching the matches recently at Lea Bridge, and it is possible that the reputation of Fellows has reached their ears.

BRENTFORD share with Grimsby Town and Portsmouth the distinction of being the only clubs in the League who have not made a centre forward change this season.

WHEN Manchester United introduced Alansworth to their forward line last week he was the thirty-fourth player they had called upon, and the seventh inside right.

NUNHEAD F.C., one of the oldest amateur clubs in the country, used their new stand for the first time recently. The club recently secured an extension of their lease until 1941.

OVERHEARD at a London Combination match:—Director: "Three first-team men in the side, and just look at 'em!" His friend: "Yes; when they're in the first team, they play first-team football; when they're with the reserves they're out of their element."

THERE is no truth in the rumours that Mr. "Bill" McCracken is to sever his connection with Millwall at the end of the present season.

HIS first season at The Den has not been as successful as was anticipated, but few clubs have had so many players on the injured list.

Moore, Leeds United goalkeeper, punches clear when a Spurs' forward presses.

ST. JOSEPH'S MAY MAKE CHANGES TO-DAY

AGAINST THE BORDERERS TEAM NOT YET DECIDED 24TH AT FULL STRENGTH

(By "Veritas").

It is rather a pity that St. Joseph's have matters such as protests, ineligible players, lost points, possible replays, etc., on their mind to-day just at the time they are due to engage in the most important league match of the season.

I expect they will be able to dismiss such apparent trivialities, but I would have preferred that this afternoon's encounter with the Borderers be an all-or-nothing sort of thing. A grand and glorious finish to the season, make the result.

As it is, it seems more likely that the league championship will rest on whether a policeman is an

WHAT THE PROTEST IS ABOUT.

POLICE PLAYER SAID TO BE UNREGISTERED.

St. Joseph's are protesting against their match with the Police, which ended in a draw last Saturday, on the grounds that Rose, the Police centre-forward, was an unregistered player at the time.

The complaint will come before the committee on Friday of this week, and if the case is proved, precedence will probably be followed, and a replay ordered. The suggestion made in some quarters that St. Joseph's will drop the protest if they win this afternoon cannot hold good, as rules provide that only in exceptional circumstances, can a protest be withdrawn.

eligible footballer or not. Which is something of an anti-climax after the way football fans have been working themselves up for the supposedly tremendous issue of this afternoon.

SAINTS DOUBTFUL.

However, in regard to to-day's match, The Borderers will be at full

TO-DAY'S LEAGUE MATCH.

KOWLOON F. C. THE VENUE.

To-day's league match between the Borderers and St. Joseph's will be played on the Kowloon F.C. ground, kicking-off at 5 o'clock. Originally the fixture was a home game for the Borderers, but the Soekunpoo arena is occupied. Defeat for the Borderers will practically end their hopes of the championship. If St. Joseph's are beaten, they will rely on the result of their protest against the ineligibility of one of the Police players, in the hopes that a replay will be ordered, which would thus give them the opportunity of regaining points.

strength. St. Joseph's are just a little bit doubtful.

I was informed this morning: "We shall not make up our minds about the combination of the team until just before the game. It will quite likely be as usual, although there may be positional changes, and even one or two alterations in personnel."

So that until 5 o'clock we can only guess at the Saints' line-up. Anyhow, Ward is fit again after his injury sustained against the Club.

Frankly I doubt if the Saints will tamper about with their team. The wisdom of such a policy is open to real doubt. Whatever shortcoming there may have been, the fact remains that they have become accustomed to a certain combination, and to introduce new blood at this stage, or even to change about the old players, is more likely to upset the team than to help it.

But that is a matter for Mr. Goldenberg and his colleagues. The Borderers are satisfied. They appreciate a winning team when they possess one, and not even last Sunday's reverse has upset this outlook. Which is a good thing.

Here are the most likely line-ups:

BORDERERS.

Smith; Mullane and Morrison; Davies, Podmore and Underwood; Mathias, Hazlewood, Fortey, Jones and Duncan.

ST. JOSEPH'S.

Marques; Souza and A. V. Gosano; Marques, Beltrao, and Elmas; B. Gosano, Ward, Leonard, Rocha and Costa.

U.S. WIGHTMAN CUP TEAM

FIVE STRONG PLAYERS

New York, April 24. The United States Lawn Tennis Association to-day announced the composition of the American Wightman Cup team to play at Wimbledon this year. The following powerful side has been selected.

Miss Helen Jacobs (playing captain)

Miss Alice Marble
Miss Sarah Palfrey
Miss Josephine Cruikshank
Miss Carolyn Babcock

As anticipated, Mrs. Helen Williams Moody has had to relinquish her position owing to the breakdown in health which she suffered last year, and from which she is now but slowly recovering.

Four of the five selected players appeared in the successful team which defeated the Englishwomen at Forest Hills last August, and all of the players are among the first six in the American national ranking list for 1933.

If last year's event is any criterion, Miss Helen Jacobs and Miss Sarah Palfrey will bear the burden of the singles and may possibly be called upon to take one of the doubles. Last August they won four rubbers between them, Miss Jacobs defeating both Miss Round and Miss Scriven, and in company with Miss Bailey overcame Miss Round and Miss Healey in a doubles. Miss Palfrey defeated Miss Scriven, but lost to Dorothy Round.

Miss Babcock played in the fifth singles, losing to Miss Nuthall, while Miss Alice Marble played in a doubles with Mrs. J. Van Ryn, which they lost to Miss Nuthall and Miss James.

The Wightman Cup contest will be staged at Wimbledon this year, the matches being scheduled for June 15 and 16.

garding the proposed Governor's Cup match on May 5.

The Football Association wrote them last week asking if they would turn out a team on Saturday week to decide this competition, but up to this morning nothing had been heard from the Federation.

The F.A. are also waiting to hear whether the Federation are prepared to play the "China-Olympic" team versus Rest of the Colony on Sunday on the Club ground.

PERU RETIRES FROM AMERICAN ZONE

Peru has informed the Brazilian Sports Federation that it is not possible to send a team to meet Brazil in the first round of the South American zone in the Davis Cup competition.

As only two countries challenged in that zone Brazil will meet, in the inter-zone final, the winners of the North American section, in which the United States, Canada, and Mexico take part.

Woolham, present holder of the title, had a narrow escape playing against an unknown Northern, Wood, of Freshfield, who took him to the nineteenth hole.—Reuter Special.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

Solution to Previous Contract Problem.

Just because you have bid for a small slam, don't be content with just making your contract. Get into the habit of playing every hand for the maximum number of tricks—that is, after the safety of your contract is assured. It will aid you if you ever play tournament bridge.

A good example is given in today's hand, which helped Jefferson B. Glick of Cleveland and his partner win the Akron contract pair city championship recently.

The Play

Of course, if West leads the ace of diamonds, the contract will be held to six odd, but you seldom will find a good player opening ing an ace against a slam contract. West, in this case, elected to lead the three of clubs. Glick went up with the jack in dummy, which held the trick.

He now started to run his hearts. He played six straight heart tricks. From the dummy he discarded three spades and a diamond.

West, of course, had to make five discards. He discarded all of his diamonds, except the ace, and then the five of spades. It is immaterial what East discarded.

Glick then led his last heart—the deuce—and West was helpless. If he discarded the ace of diamonds, dummy's king was good. If he let go a club, then the clubs would break. He finally decided to release the queen of spades.

Glick then played his ace of spades, which caught West's king, and the seven of diamonds was discarded from dummy.

The jack of spades was played and again West was squeezed. Of course he had to let go a club, and Glick discarded the king of diamonds from dummy.

The last three tricks then were won with the three good clubs. Thus seven-odd was made, giving Glick top score on the board.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Heralded as the greatest example of motion picture craftsmanship in film history, an actual reproduction of the Louisa M. Alcott home in Concord, Mass., was constructed as the setting for RKO-Radio Pictures' screen version of her famous story, "Little Women," coming to the Central Theatre. The home, complete down to the last piece of bric-a-brac and surrounding lawns and gardens, was constructed on a three-acre plot near Hollywood, from hundreds of photographs, drawings and descriptions obtained by a special staff of artisans working in Concord by special permission. The film is enacted by a cast headed by Katharine Hepburn, Frances Dee, Joan Bennett, Jean Parker, and Spring Byington. George Cukor directed.

"Sitting Pretty"

Repeal has failed to find any ardent supporters among the chorus girls of Hollywood. A poll of the eighty-four girls engaged in production numbers for the Paramount musical-comedy hit, "Sitting Pretty," coming on Thursday to the King's Theatre, indicates that repeal will not change their drinking habits. The girls appear in two lavish production spectacles in this new picture which depicts the incredible and hilarious adventures in Hollywood of Jack Oakie and Jack Haley, two impecunious but high-spirited song writers. Both are in love with that lovely red-head, Ginger Rogers, but Jack Haley finally wins her hand after a series of mad-cap escapades. Much of the fun in the picture centres about Haley's desperate efforts to rescue his irresponsible team-mate from the clutches of designing beauties.

"His Double Life"

As undeniable proof of her versatility and true greatness, Lillian Gish has forsaken her old tragic characterizations and returns to the screen in a romantic comedy. It is "His Double Life," co-starring Roland Young, and opening to-morrow at the Alhambra. For more than twenty years, the pensively beautiful actress has been called America's greatest tragedienne. Even when she played success on Broadway she played nothing but tragic roles. Many of her screen roles were filled with tears, desolation and heartbreak: "Intolerance," "Broken Blossoms," "Orphans of the Storm" and "The Scarlet Letter" to mention a few of the greatest. But when Director Arthur Hopkins was casting "His Double Life," adapted from Arthur Bennett's novel, "Buried Alive," and the play, "The Great Adventure," he found that he needed an actress who could play a girl to demure, little English woman. She would have to marry the wrong man, yet be perfectly content with him. She would have to know how to extract all the comedy from the her sly, nervous and wretched husband. Hopkins knew of no one better equipped to play the role than Lillian Gish. Although Miss Gish was spending a vacation in Europe, Hopkins wired her that he had a comedy role open for her. Without pausing to inquire as to terms or details, she wired her acceptance and hurried back to take the part.

"I Am Suzanne"

If the audiences at the King's Theatre are an indication of what the public thinks of Lillian Gish, there need be no question as to her popularity. Her performance in Jesse L. Lasky's Fox Film production, "I Am Suzanne," is such a grand job that she eclipses anything she has hitherto done, either in Hollywood or Europe. The romance, the sensational revenge numbers and the photographic wonders of the picture brand "I Am Suzanne" as one of the most spectacular productions ever to come from Hollywood. The Podrecca Piccoli Marionettes, which are employed throughout the major part of the film, lend a unique background to the production. It is new to the screen and refreshing in its novelty. Gene Raymond, who plays opposite Miss Gish, gives a performance that outdoes anything he has ever done in his long career. The supporting cast which includes such stellar names as Leslie Banks, Georgia Caine, Geneva Mitchell, Halliwell Hobbes, Murray Kinnell and Edward Keane, all give splendid performances under the fine direction of Rowland V. Lee.

"Crime of the Century"

Jean Hersholt, Stuart Erwin, Wynne Gibson and Frances Dee head the cast of "The Crime of the Century," a mystery drama in a new style, which opens to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre. Gordon Westcott and David Landau have the principal supporting roles. "The Crime of the Century" offers two innovations in presentation of a mystery story. First, the crime is confessed to police before it is committed, and yet is carried through while they watch. Second, halfway through, there is a 60-second intermission, during which the various clues to the solution are reviewed briefly, and the audience is invited to attempt to solve it. The picture centres around Hersholt, an alienist, who walks into a police station, tells the assembled officers that he has planned a murder, describes how it will be carried through, and begs to be locked up so that he will be unable to commit it. Impressed by his manner as well as his reputation, officers accompany him to his home. And there, while they look on, powerless to prevent it, not only the murder he has planned, but a second one, takes place. Erwin, as a police reporter, and Miss Dee, as the daughter of the alienist, combine to solve both crimes from the few unimportant-looking clues available. Miss Gibson is cast as one of the two victims, with Landau as a detective. B. F. Schulberg produced the film for Paramount.

"Kennel Murder Case"

Who killed Archer Coe? That is the most baffling question that Philo Vance, the famous and debonair detective character created by S. S. Van Dine, and impersonated by William Powell in the Warner Bros. picture, "The Kennel Murder Case," which is now showing at Alhambra ever has been called upon to answer. Archer Coe is found dead in his bed room with a revolver in his hand and not a sign of a struggle and with the door locked. He has a bullet in his brain and a scalp abrasion. The police consider it a case of suicide until Philo Vance walks into the scene and through a series of deductions, proves that it is a murder and not a suicide and then proceeds to discover the murderer. No only is "The Kennel Murder Case" one of the most mysterious of all of Van Dine's stories in which seven persons are found to have both a motive for the crime and an opportunity to have committed it, but it carries a strange love tangle which is eventually unravelled by Vance. The picture has a strong cast in support of Powell and includes such noted players as Mary Astor, Eugene Pallette, Ralph Morgan, Helen Vison, Jack La Rue, Paul Cavanaugh, Robert Barrat, Arthur Hohl and Henry O'Neill. The picture was directed by Michael Curtiz, one of the greatest directors of mystery dramas, from the screen play by Robert N. Lee and Peter Milne.

"Flying Down to Rio"

An orchestra that flies about the ball-room over the heads of the dancers, is one of the intriguing novelties presented in RKO-Radio Pictures musical extravaganza, "Flying Down to Rio" which will be shown at the Oriental Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It is said to be but one of more than a score of unique stunts presented on the screen in this production. Clinaxing with a spectacular and thrilling aerial musical show, 100 girls dancing and singing on the wings of airplanes as they soar above beautiful Rio de Janeiro, the film is enacted by an all-star cast headed by Dolores del Rio, Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Gene Raymond and Raul Roulien in romantic roles.

OBITUARY

DIRECTOR OF IMPERIAL CHEMICAL INDUSTRIES

London, Apr. 20.

The death occurred to-day of Sir Max Muspratt, Director of the Imperial Chemical Industries and former Lord Mayor of Liverpool. Deceased was 63 years old and had no heirs.—Reuter.

Max Muspratt, industrial magnate and politician, was born in Liverpool in February, 1872, and educated at Clifton College and Zurich, being the first Englishman to secure the Swiss Government diploma in industrial chemistry.

Entering the works of the United Alkali Co. in 1895, he was concerned with the management of the technical side till 1914, when he succeeded his father as Chairman of this vast undertaking, which had been founded by his grandfather.

A chemist of great ability, he was Chairman of the Association of British Chemical Manufacturers, Deputy-Chairman of the Sulphuric Acid Association, Chairman of the Liverpool Economic League and of Lord Mayor of Liverpool's committee on the trade and industry of the port. During the War he worked in the closest touch with the Ministry of Munitions and was chairman of the committee dealing with sulphuric acid, while his advice on chemical warfare was constantly asked. In January, 1926, he was elected President of the Federation of British Industries.

Since 1895 he had taken a leading part in Liberal politics in Lancashire and had been active in the Liverpool City Council since 1903, having held every kind of public office. He was elected M. P. for the Exchange Division of the city in 1910. In 1918 he was chosen leader of the Liberal party in the Council. In March 1922, however, he resigned the leadership of the party in Liverpool owing to differences of opinion on its immediate policy. A year later he and five other members of the City Council severed their connection with the Liberal caucus, though remaining Liberals, and declared their intention of voting independently.

Sir Max Muspratt was made a baronet in 1922. In February 1925, he and four others went over to the Conservative party. In the City Council, he stated that his secession was mainly a local move and was not prompted by the national situation of the Liberal party, but that naturally he could not be a Conservative locally and a Liberal in national politics.

When the great merger, Imperial Chemical Industries, Ltd., was formed with a capital of £50,000,000, Sir Max became one of the Directors. It is associated with the syndicate which has obtained concessions for exploiting the resources of the Dead Sea. Certain Australian chemical concerns are also connected with the syndicate and it was proposed to form a combination to amalgamate the chemical interests in Australia and New Zealand. In connection with this question Sir Max Muspratt visited Australia towards the end of 1927.

M. Antony Klobukowky

Paris, Apr. 24.

The death occurred here to-day of M. Antony Klobukowky, former Governor-General of French Indo-China.—Reuter.

M. Klobukowky, who was born in 1855, was recognised as one of France's foremost diplomats and civil servants. He was a permanent member of the Higher Council of the Colonies, having previously served his country in the capacity of Minister to Bangkok (this first senior appointment, in 1901), Minister to Peru, in 1903; Minister to Ethiopia, in 1907; and in Brussels from 1911 to 1915. He was Governor-General of French Indo-China, from 1908 to 1911.

ARMS PARLEY

SESSION POSTPONED
UNTIL MAY 29

Geneva, Apr. 24.

It is now practically settled that the Disarmament Bureau and the General Commission of the Disarmament Conference will meet on May 29, instead of April 30. It is considered, in view of the French statement of attitude recently, that it would be pointless to hold a meeting this month with the object of redrafting the British proposals.

There are two courses open to the General Commission, which may either register its inability to agree and adjourn sine die like the World Economic Conference, or proceed with discussions hoping to reach an attenuated convention.

The majority of states, including France, favour the latter course, but others feel that the possibilities of negotiations have not yet been exhausted.—Reuter.

BANDIT OUTRAGE

PILLAGED VILLAGE OF TSOCHINTZE

Harbin, Apr. 24.

A force of 2,500 bandits cut telegraph wires and surprised the station of Tsochintze to-day.

Their attack was delivered without warning and they robbed and pillaged for hours. They secured, among other things, a quantity of cash from the warehouses of the Chinese Eastern Railway Commercial Agency.

Garrison troops were despatched from here, and after a two-hour battle drove the bandits out of the village. Three of the invaders and one Manchurian soldier were killed. One Russian woman was wounded. Two Russians and three Chinese were carried off in captivity.—Reuter.

CHAPTER XXXI

The morning that Billings decided to visit Morro Castle was the same one on which Marcia Troadway said to Estelle, "I suppose I really ought to see the place."

The sentence ended in a yawn. Estelle said eagerly, "I'll order the car for 11 if that suits you."

"Oh, I suppose it will," Marcia agreed. "Hand me that newspaper, will you, child? And—read my letters for me. I don't know why people want to waste so much ink and paper anyhow."

Estelle settled to open and read Marcia's letters. At the third one she paused. It was from the one friend in whom Marcia confided. This friend—knowing Marcia's quest though not the purpose behind it—had written, "Have you found your Pablo to buy any chance?"

Estelle looked quickly at Marcia who was studying the late-in-the-season list of arrivals in Havana and did not see the look. When Estelle went on reading her hand shook a little. What could Marcia want of Pablo? Would she recognize him if she were to see him? Estelle, continuing her reading only half-conscious of the words, thought she probably would.

She spoke up then. "This is evidently from a close friend of yours. She signs herself Jane."

Marcia was instantly alert. "Give it here, child," she ordered sharply. "I didn't know there was a letter there from her!"

"The envelope was addressed with a typewriter," Estelle explained.

"She is secretary to Mrs. L. Browning Bishop."

"I haven't read much of it," said Estelle. Marcia's eyes narrowed, moving down the page and coming upon the mention of Pablo. Estelle's too quickly given reassurance told that she had seen the words. It was unfortunate. Marcia could not, at the moment, think of an acceptable explanation so, with outward calm, she finished reading the letter, resolved to request Jane hereafter never to use that name again—at least in writing.

Estelle was standing. "She won't be ready at 11?" she questioned.

"Yes, darling."

"It's a good time for the trip. A grim day is best."

"Poetic little lamb, aren't you?" Marcia asked, amused.

Estelle turned away with more colour than usual in her cheeks. She was accustomed to being laughed at for such remarks and the laughter always made her feel lonely and young and misplaced. Pablo was the only one who did not laugh at her. He understood and often said the same sort of things himself.

Thinking of him for a moment, Estelle closed her eyes. They were to be married as soon as she was 21—two long years ahead. They knew they could not hope for Jim Field's consent to the marriage and that if they married without his consent no obstacles would stop him from seeking them out and finding them. Estelle it was who had seen the wisdom of waiting the two years and who had insisted upon it. There were times when she wondered at her own strength in making this decision but even then she clung to it.

At the edge of Morro Castle Billings stepped from the car he had hired for the morning. "Ouch!" he groaned loudly. Then he climbed the hill stiffly and, on the way up, acquired a guide.

A smartly attired, hard-faced woman and a slender girl passed by, walking briskly and easily.

"The young one is the daughter of Mr. James Field," said the guide, nodding toward the couple. "Is that so?"

"Yes. She is the beloved of Juanito, the fighter. They meet in the Parque. They meet."

"You don't say so!" Suddenly Billings was interested.

"Ah, yes! But Havana smiles upon the affair. Her father, Field, is very bad. The daughter is an angel and Juanito a good, good young man!"

"About how old is he anyway?" Billings asked as if to make conversation.

"Twenty-one or two, I would suppose. Ah—he is a wonder! A Stoic, a Spartan. He shakes the head to many ladies who seek him." To illustrate, the guide shook his head as does an absent-minded individual, vaguely troubled by the buzz of a fly. "Always Juanito remains not in love until she comes. Then—ah! He is completely! It is a pretty affair and all wish him luck."

"Why doesn't he go to the old man and ask for the girl?" Billings questioned between puffs. The coquina-paved grade was steep. Twenty-one or twenty-two—that was the right age. Hang it, he was getting excited about the affair! His heart had plunked as he heard the boy's age.

"Go to him? To Field? Field would buy a nobleman for his daughter to wed! Good or bad, it would not matter."

"Hum—" said Billings. They were in the fort then and under the shadow of a great wall. "Here," the guide began oratorically, and then suddenly stopped. He said in a harsh whisper, "There is Juanito himself. He must have followed her here! They say he trails the car when she rides in it!"

"Where?" asked Billings.

The guide nodded. "Let's mozy over there. Easy, and casual like."

"Mozy?" the guide echoed stupidly.

"Vamos. Move along. I want to get near him but don't want to be caught. See?"

"Ah, the intrigue!" The guide smiled, showing a flash of white teeth. He took up his lecturing, perhaps a little over-loudly. "If the Senor will step this way I will show him—"

Billings stood quite near to Pablo as he looked at a spot in the wall where, the guide said, a patriot had once dislodged a stone to find a way to freedom. Billings studied the young man casually. A durned good-looking young fellow, he was. Tall and broad of shoulder with clear, blue eyes. He seemed to be watching the gate as though looking for someone. Then Billings saw the two women who had passed him nearing. The one who was Field's daughter lagged so that for a moment she was behind her companion. Billings saw her shake her head violently at Juanito.

He neared the young man. "Pretty rough time they had here, wasn't it?" he asked Pablo. No one brought up near Cienfuegos, Billings knew, would speak English without an accent. He waited Juanito's reply tensely.

"Yes, very bad," Billings heard and knew that the story about Tin Julia and Cienfuegos was a lie.

"This is my first trip here," he confided. "I think we kind of thought in the United States that all that happened in this war was Roosevelt riding around with his boys."

"Is that so?" "All before your time, I guess." The boy was looking after the girl. He had not heard.

"They say," Billings continued louder, "a stranger ought to see Cienfuegos, too."

"Oh, yes. Quite a sight."

"I have a friend who has a sugar place near there. His name is Green. Josiah Green. I wonder if you can tell me which way his place lies? I want to look him up."

Juanito said absently that he was sorry but he could not. Now Billings was utterly certain that the story about Tin Julia was a lie. He had learned the day before that Josiah Green's plantation was a large and famous one. Any boy reared at Cienfuegos would know of Josiah Green.

"Well, I'll ask elsewhere. Thanks just the same," Billings said. Then with great interest, contrasting sharply with the indifference of his other words, he put a question to the guide about how many—exactly how many—men had been shot in Morro by the Spaniards.

(To Be Continued).

STRIKE SPREADS

BOMBAY MILL HANDS FIGHT POLICE

Bombay, April 24. There are now 30,000 workers out in connection with the general strike in the textile mills here. About 20 mills are now affected, whereas yesterday it was hoped that the trouble might be localised. There are about 40 mills in the area.

Thirteen of the strikers' leaders have been arrested and more than a dozen workers were injured in clashes with police. The strikers attempted to defy the order of the authorities which banned processions, and when they commenced, their march they were charged by constables.—Reuter.

How he and his comrades had been handcuffed day and night for five months since their world-famous trial on charges of setting fire to the Reichstag was what the Bulgarian Communist Dimitroff (pointing to himself) was telling newspaper correspondents when this picture was taken in a Moscow hotel. Sitting on either side of Dimitroff are his fellow defendants Popoff (left) and Tanoff, all three of whom were acquitted.

An infuriated mob of taxicab strikers that had swept through New York streets in an orgy of violence and destruction, found police prepared to resist them when they descended on Times Square to intimidate after-theatre throngs. In these scenes during the "reign of terror" you see (at top) police breaking up a group of defiant strikers, (lower left) the ruins of a cab after strikers had burned it, and (at lower right), a policeman with bared nightstick giving the order to "move on".

Latest entry in the world race for large afloat is the giant plane Seylla, pictured during its construction. In Kent, where there were no hangars large enough to house it. The ship will carry 43 persons.

Tragedy struck another French home as the result of the Stavisky scandal when Judge Albert Prince was murdered as he was about to testify on the legal side of the sensational case. Pictured in Paris as they left memorial services for the slain jurist are his widow and son Raymond, who vowed to make public the names his father was to reveal "in spite of the terrible responsibility it involves, which may cost me my life."

and dampness are still out of telescopic range. Sir Stafford Cripps is a large, beefy, good-natured, companionable Englishman, fond of middle-class comforts—a man who would not knowingly hurt one of God's creatures and who might be expected to show mercy even to a repentant parasite. Moreover, he has sworn that he will not enter a Labour Government which takes office without absolute power—in other words, without an absolute majority over all other parties.

That gives us at least ten years of respite. And in ten years' time Sir Stafford himself will be ten years older, perhaps ten years wiser.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

YESTERDAY'S MARKET STEADY

According to Messrs. Swan Culbertson and Fritz, the New York market was slightly easy yesterday. Our New York office cables:—
Stocks: Moved meaningfully as traders await news developments. Wheat: While the basic situation in wheat is bullish it is being lost sight of because of liquidation by disappointed inflationists. Cotton: Was lower on liquidation of May futures and the weakness in silver when it was reported that Congress sustains the President's opposition to mandatory silver legislation. Spot demand was slow. Sugar: Steady with continued improvement in the spot market. Rubber: Firm, with trade the principal buyers, were indications that rubber was strongly held.

It is notified that the offices of the Siam Consulate General have been removed to the new Hongkong Stock Exchange Building, Fourth Floor.

WHAT MADE JARDINE RESIGN?

DIVERGENT VIEWS BY ENGLISH SPORTS WRITERS

TREVOR WIGNALL SUPPORTS AN EARLY REPORT

The retirement of Jardine from international cricket has proved the grand finale to a chapter of sensations commencing during the last Test matches in Australia, and sports writers have viewed the action of the former England Captain from several points of view.

Trevor Wignall in the Daily Express says:—
Those who claim to be close friends of Jardine say openly that pressure has been brought to bear on him, and they also profess to know that Larwood, and possibly others who accompanied Jardine to Australia, will decline invitations to play in the forthcoming Tests.

If this occurs—especially if such players as Sutcliffe and Hammond, who signed the famous declaration in support of Jardine in Australia, are affected—the situation will be very critical, and the Australians may even decide to abandon the Tests rather than play against a non-representative or reserve English team.

Certain Australians connected with cricket are jubilant that Jardine will not play; but they also express anxiety lest numbers of people in England might now think he has been persuaded to announce that he will not be available.

It was told on what seems good authority that private conferences were held some time ago between Mr. Bruce, the Australian High Commissioner, and Mr. J. H. Thomas, the Dominion Secretary, on the subject of Jardine, and that as a result representations were made to the M.C.C. that the Australians would welcome the appointment of Percy Chapman as his successor.

But every one I have spoken to believes that big cricket is precariously placed, and that if there be any more incidents the Tests will be scrapped for many years.

It was recognized that with D. R. Jardine playing regularly and in form this season, he would be an automatic choice as captain of England. But it was also recognized that he is one of the last men in the game to captain "to orders."

It is not a question of knuckling under to the Australians, who look on cricket almost in the light of a religion.

BRITISH TRADERS ANXIOUS

Urge Government To Strong Line

London, April 24.
The Leeds Chamber of Commerce, in a meeting held this afternoon, held a special meeting to consider the situation arising out of the Japanese "Hands Off China" declaration.
A resolution was passed calling on the Government to do their utmost to protect British interests in China.
The mover of the resolution said that a strong line would have to be taken to keep the Door Open to trade in China, for if the same principles were applied to Manchuria by Japan were applied to the whole of China, then it would be good-bye to the Chinese trade.—Reuter.

UNITED STATES NON-COMMITTAL

Bingham-Quo Report Comment

Washington, April 24.
The Under-Secretary of State, Mr. William Phillips, questioned regarding the possibility of a concerted campaign with the United States joining Britain in an attempt to iron out the Sino-Japanese situation, refused to commit himself.

In reference to the reports from London stating that the American Ambassador, Mr. Bingham, had been in conference with Mr. Quo T'ai-chi, the Chinese Ambassador, Mr. Phillips declared that Mr. Bingham had been given no instructions and had not notified the State Department of any conversations he might have had with any officials.—Reuter.

DINNER TO-NIGHT.

This evening, at 8 p.m. for 8.30 p.m., the second Annual Dinner of the Anzac Company of the Volunteer Forces will be held at Volunteer Headquarters.

Similar celebrations will be held in Shanghai but, additionally, the Anzac Society in the northern city is holding a Dinner, at which the Hon. J. G. Latham and members of the Australian Goodwill Mission to the Far East will be guests of honour.

national honour, but of avoiding anything that might disturb the peace.

It is felt at Lord's that not only is the continuance of cricket between England and Australia staked on the feeling that will prevail this season, but also that vital political issues might be involved.

For these reasons, however serious the absence of Mr. Jardine as a player may be, it is no doubt a considerable relief at cricket headquarters that he has "neither the intention nor the desire to play against Australia this summer."

ANOTHER ASPECT.

It is not in the least surprising that Jardine should have made up his mind to have the choice of international cricket. During the past two or three years he has made tremendous demands upon his physical and mental energies, says "Cover Point" in "Sporting Life."

He has proved himself to be the greatest cricket captain that England has been able to call upon for more than a generation, and if he had been willing again to lead England he would have been chosen to do so.

In a few days we shall know upon whom the choice of the Selection Committee yet to be appointed, will fall. We are told by those who allege they are "behind the scenes" that the matter has been decided, and it is known in inner circles who the captain will be.

That sort of gossip is all nonsense. The M.C.C. does not do things in that way. It does not appoint a Selection Committee and then inform the members that they have no discretion as to the selection of captain.

Equally stupid is the statement that members of the last M.C.C. tour would refuse to play unless Jardine were the captain of the "Test team." Herbert Sutcliffe promptly scotched that ridiculous and insulting yarn. He has made it abundantly clear that English and Australian cricketers are good friends all.

They will remain good friends, and there will not be any untoward incidents during the forthcoming season if cricketers will abandon the part of mischief-makers.

ANZAC DAY IN HONGKONG

IMPRESSIVE SCENE AT CENOTAPH

Anzac Day was fittingly observed in Hongkong this morning when a large and representative crowd attended the wreath-laying ceremony at the Cenotaph.

Members of the Anzac Company of the Hongkong Volunteers Defence Corps were present, together with a representative body from the Australian and New Zealand Association of Hongkong and South China.

A party drawn from the South Wales Borderers, Army officers, and a number of naval officers and ratings from various ships in port were also in attendance.
Among the naval party present were a number who took part in the landing at Gallipoli. These included:—
Commander P. H. McCarton, R.N., M.A.A., A.R. Hughes (H.M.S. "Pam"), Eng. Commander H. F. du M. Hun, Capt. S. W. Dewhurst, R.M. Flight Lieut. M. H. Jones, R.A.F. (H.M.S. "Eagle"), Surg. Capt. Rivers (Royal Naval Hospital), Capt. R. B. Davies, V.C., D.S.O., A.F.C., Mr. Varlow, boatswain (H.M.S. "Cornwall"), Rev. T. A. Giles, Commissioner Gunner B. Baldeson (H.M.S. "Medway"), Paymaster Commander A. F. Humphreys (H.M.S. "Caradoc"), Commander F. C. Flynn, Vt. Eng. J. H. Rankine (H.M.S. "Sandwich").

A Two Minutes' Silence followed the sounding of the Last Post by the buglers of the South Wales Borderers. Following the Revolver a number of wreaths were laid at the foot of the Cenotaph. These included tributes from "Anzac 1915-1934," the British Legion, Royal Navy, Royal Air Force, Lieut. Col. E. J. de C. Boys, Officers, W.O.'s, N.C.O.'s, and men of the Lincolnshire Regiment. GOVERNMENT & LOCAL CEMENT

PROMISE OF WIDER USE GIVEN TO GREEN ISLAND CO.

MENACE OF JAPANESE COMPETITION

That the Green Island Cement Company has been operating under extremely adverse conditions during the past year was emphasised by Mr. J. Scott Harston when presiding at the annual meeting of the Company held at Exchange Building this morning. Supporting the chairman were Messrs. J. H. Taggart, A. L. Shields, T. E. Pearce, Li Tse-fong (Directors) and T. C. T. Beck (Asst. Secretary). Shareholders present were Messrs. C. E. L. Grist, F. C. Barry, Frank Austin (Attorney for Messrs. A. J. and David), G. H. Potts, J. M. de Figueiredo, A. Kitchell, K. C. Mark, F. E. Silva, A. C. Grenaves and G. C. Moxon.

MR. SHEWAN'S DEATH.

After the Secretary had read the notice convening the meeting, the Chairman said: Gentlemen,—Before proceeding with the business of the Meeting, I would like to express the Board's deep regret at the passing of Mr. Robert Gordon Shewan. Mr. Shewan's firm (then known as "Shewan & Co.") took over the management of the Green Island Cement Company as far back as the year 1895, and it was almost entirely due to the late Mr. Shewan's business acumen and sagacity in the handling of the Company's affairs that it attained the great measure of prosperity you will all remember so well. After 37 years of close connection with the Company, the late Mr. Shewan, owing to ill health, resigned from the Board on the 28th October, 1932. I would also like to refer to the departure from the Colony on retirement, at the beginning of this month, of Mr. Conrad F. Mendham, who had been a Member of your Board since the year 1924. Mr. Mendham's technical knowledge was always of great assistance to your Board, and I am sure I am voicing your sentiments in wishing him many happy years in retirement.

ADVERSE CONDITIONS.

The Report of your Directors and Statement of Accounts for the financial year ended the 31st December, 1933, having been in your hands for the prescribed period, I will, with your permission, follow the usual procedure and treat them as read.

It is hardly necessary for me to say that your Directors greatly deplore having to present to you such an unfavourable Statement of Accounts for the year 1933.

Last year the position in which the Company found itself vis-à-vis the importation of Cement from Japan was explained from the Chair very fully. Similar importations continued throughout the year under review, with the result that your Company derived no real benefit from the building activities which have been proceeding apace all over the Colony—Japanese Cement, owing to the low price at which it was offered in the market, being largely used in the construction thereof. I am, however, pleased to be able to tell you of some notable exceptions to the foregoing; I refer to the building operations in connection with the National Bank Building at the corner of Lee House Street, the Stock Exchange and the new premises for the Bank of East Asia, in the construction of which your Company's product has been and is being exclusively used. As I propose to refer to these matters again later, I will limit my present comment to the statement that your Company has been operating under extremely adverse conditions.

LOSS OF $250,000.

I would now like to refer briefly to some of the more important items in the Accounts which are before you. It will be observed from the Profit & Loss Account that the loss for the year amounted to $257,472.14 and that we have transferred from General Reserve a sum of $357,052.63 to cover depreciation, the writing down of raw materials, cement and machinery stores. This transfer, which was recommended by our Auditors, was necessary because your Company was unable to meet these charges from its Working Account. Such transfer, you will note, is reflected in the Balance Sheet.

With regard to the item in the Profit and Loss Account "Loss on Sale of Investments, $3,879.08," this refers to a loss in exchange as a result of our sale of Shanghai Municipal Debentures—the sale whereof was deemed expedient for the purpose of reducing our overdraft with the Bank.

If you will now turn to the Balance Sheet, you will notice reflected on both sides therein (on the "Assets" side in the Items for Depreciation and the writing down of Stocks etc.) the transfer that has been made from General Reserve as just mentioned.

STOCKS WRITTEN DOWN.

On the "Assets" side of the Balance Sheet, you will see that the item "Stocks at Hok On and Macao," as written down, now stands at $1,988,544.10. The writing down of such Stocks was deemed prudent owing to the depressed prices now obtainable for Cement, which, naturally, are reflected in the value of the raw materials that go towards the manufacture of such Cement.

In the Speech from the Chair last year, it was stated in reference to Stocks that your Board had every confidence that, despite adverse conditions, a material reduction would be effected during the year. In view of the bad trade experienced by the Company during the year—due, in addition to the severe competition from Japan, to the drastic increase in taxation on foreign Cement imported into China—this statement now appears to have been too optimistic, but at the time it was made, business did appear to be brighter, and as there then seemed prospects of its continuing to be so, the statement referred to was in the opinion of your Board, fully justified.

DEBT TO VICKERS.

If you will now turn to the "Liabilities" side of the Balance Sheet, you will observe under the heading "Share Capital" that a sum of $5,155,401 only, out of a total of $5,000,000, had been paid up on the 31st December last. And lower down on the same side of the Balance Sheet, you will also observe that at the end of the year, we still owed Messrs. Vickers-Armstrongs, Ltd., a sum of $787,805.78, and it was for the purpose, firstly, of liquidating this indebtedness, and secondly, of reducing our Bank overdraft, that the Call of $2.75 per share on the partly-paid shares was made by your Directors in September last. That Call, for various reasons, has not been a success, and because of this, your Board have again approached Messrs. Vickers-Armstrongs Ltd., and have succeeded in effecting arrangements whereby the date for payment of the sum mentioned above (i.e. the final instalment due to them) has been extended and the debt itself has been made payable by instalments spread over a period of months, but upon the express condition that the whole debt shall be liquidated by September next. In this relation, I would like to record your Board's appreciation of the very sympathetic attitude displayed by Messrs. Vickers-Armstrongs, Ltd.

SHARE CALL APPEAL.

From the foregoing remarks, you will, I think, see the necessity for the making of the Call in question, and I would appeal to all Shareholders who own partly paid shares in the Company, who have not yet done so, to pay the Call immediately, so that our debt to Messrs. Vickers-Armstrongs, Ltd., which obviously must be paid within the extended period—may be liquidated as early as possible and our overdraft with our Bankers reduced. I would also draw such Shareholders' attention to the fact that, by not paying the Call which is due to the Company, they are seriously interfering with the Company's prospects of recovery and are thus meting out unfair treatment to their fellow-shareholders who have already paid. Up to the present, your Board have dealt very patiently with the situation, but should the Call not be paid immediately, they must, in the interests of Shareholders as a whole, take the necessary steps to enforce payment thereof.

CUT PRICES.

Business covering the year 1933 was, as you will have observed from the Accounts before you, most unsatisfactory. To obtain any share of the business offering, we were forced to cut our prices to such an extent that little or no profit accrued to the Company therefrom. Your Board, realising the effect of this position, opened negotiations in the middle of last year with a view to disposing of portions of your Plant. As soon as this became known, enquiries for the Plant were received from various sources, and negotiations in relation thereto are still continuing. No finality will, however, be reached without first placing the matter fully before Shareholders in General Meeting.

General von Seck, former leader of the German Reichwehr, who is still in Nanking, where he has been, it is believed, studying police organization on behalf of the Nanking Government.

In the matter of Expenditure generally, all avenues have been explored, and retrenchments, consistent with the efficient running of your undertaking, have been made all round.

GOVERNMENT ASSURANCE.

Your Board have also considered, from every aspect, ways of increasing business and combating the very severe competition with which we are faced from Japan—in which relation I would like to state that the attitude of the local Government is a sympathetic one, and they have advised us that in future a proportion of your Company's product will be used on all works of a public nature.

Your factory, which has worked intermittently throughout the year under review, has been entirely closed since October last, thus throwing out of work some 1,500 Chinese workmen, most of whom have many persons dependent upon them.

During the year under review, no Cement was taken in connection with the Shing Mun Valley Dam, for which your Company obtained the contract. Deliveries of Cement, however, commenced in a small way at the beginning of this month, and while we are as yet unaware of the total quantity of Cement required, your Board expect that, with the commencement of this work and the building of the new Head Office for the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, together with the order on our books, your factory will be able to start work again within the next two months.

INTENSIFIED DUMPING.

It is inconceivable that, in these troublesome and difficult times, such an important undertaking as that of your Company (which has assisted so largely in the past in building the public works of the Colony, docks, wharves, reservoirs and so many of the prominent buildings), should be compelled, for lack of proper support, to close down permanently. It is experiencing intensified dumping; it is experiencing. Your Board, however, have not yet lost faith, and are hopeful that the Company will, with due support, be enabled to weather the storm and become once again the paying concern it was before it encountered the intensified dumping of Japanese Cement.

I feel that I ought not to close this Speech without making reference to the work voluntarily undertaken by Mr. Taggart in relation to the numerous details which have from time to time needed—and which I may add are constantly needing—attention in connection with the business affairs of the Company.

MR. TAGGART THANKED.

Owing to the concentration of circumstances attendant upon those affairs during the past financial year, Mr. Taggart's labours were very considerably increased. As an example thereof, I would cite the fact that in order to ascertain and test the exact "bed-rock" position, Mr. Taggart carefully dissected the Company's Balance Sheet and Accounts, and thereafter prepared a Special Memorandum in regard thereto for the consideration of the Board—a piece of work which necessarily occupied many hours of his time.

When I add that the whole of the above work was performed by Mr. Taggart without any remuneration other than his customary fees as one of the Company's Directors, Shareholders will realise (as do the Board) that

MYSTERY MONSTER CAPTURED

GIANT WOMBAT IN ZOO

The mystery monster which has been terrifying the inhabitants of Gippsland, Victoria, has been captured.

It is neither a lion nor a dingo, nor a panther as reported. It is a giant wombat with a peculiar gait which left huge footprints quite different from the rest of the species. A constable on wireless patrol made the capture and his "And" now rests safely in the Melbourne zoo.

The P. and O. s.s. Sonali is due here from Shanghai at 7 p.m. tomorrow.

especial thanks are due to Mr. Taggart therefor.
DEPLETED STAFF.

In conclusion, I would like to record the thanks of the Board—and I am sure of all Shareholders—to the members of our greatly depleted Staff, who, despite the manifold difficulties arising, have continued to discharge their duties with zeal and efficiency.

There being no further matters to which I can usefully refer, I now beg to formally propose that the Report and Accounts for the financial year ended the 31st December, 1933, as presented, be adopted, and that the recommendation of your Directors that the sum of $273,047.77 be carried forward to the credit of the current year be accepted, and I shall be much obliged if some Shareholder will kindly second that proposal whereupon questions as to the Reports and Accounts may be raised.

Mr. Frank Austin seconded the adoption of the report and statement of accounts which, on being put to the meeting were carried unanimously.

MR. POTTS'S QUESTION.

Mr. G. H. Potts: In your remarks you contended that the Government are now taking a lot of our cement for public works. As a matter of fact I notice that Japanese cement slabs are being put down in front of the Stock Exchange although in the building itself Green Island Cement is used.

The Chairman: I can only say in answer to what you have said Mr. Potts I think that the statement that the Government is sympathetic is warranted by the facts known to me. With regard to the concluding remark you made, of course, I am personally without information on the subject.

Mr. Potts: I would like to know how much cement has already been used in the Shing Mun Valley?

The Chairman: With regard to the dam itself I understand 171 tons had been delivered to-day. That is the dam only, not the channels.

Mr. C. E. L. Grist proposed and Mr. H. J. M. de Figueiredo seconded the re-election of Mr. J. Scott Harston and Mr. J. H. Taggart to the Board of Directors.

On the motion of Mr. F. C. Barry, seconded by Mr. A. Kitchell, Messrs. Linstead and Davis and Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews were re-elected auditors.

ASSAULT ON AN N. C. O.

LINCOLNS PRIVATE CHARGED

DRUNK IN CAMP

Private Richard Johnson, of the Lincoln, pleaded guilty to charges of assaulting an N. C. O. in the execution of his duty and using subordinate language, at a District Court Martial at Shamshui, this morning.

Major J. H. Moseley, (R.E.) was president of the Court and other officers present were Capt. L. C. Gates (Lincoln) and Lieut. C. Jones (East Lancs), Capt. F. W. Young (Lincoln) prosecuted and Lieut. H. E. Cotter (Lincoln) defended.

At the outset, Major Moseley expressed regret for the inconvenience caused by his absence on Monday, the day on which the trial was first ordered to take place.

STRUCK CORPORAL

The summary of evidence was read and to the effect that on April 6 Cpl. A. E. Chappell, acting platoon sergeant, while in his bunk at about 2.45 p.m. received a report and on going into the platoon hut noticed that the equipment, which had just been blanked-out, had been mixed up. He saw accused in the room and asked him why he had done it. Accused then used the insubordinate language, the subject of one of the charges, and was ordered to be placed under arrest. Accused then turned and struck Cpl. Chappell in the eye, knocking him on to a bed.

In a written statement handed to the Court, accused stated that he had been to the regimental canteen and got drunk. He then returned to the platoon hut, where he upset some equipment which had just been blanked-out. He remembered little of what happened except that he was ordered by Cpl. Chappell to the Guard Room. He seemed to have started to struggle and argue and only remembered finding himself in the Guard Room.

AN APOLOGY

Accused stated that drink had made him act as he did. If he had been sober he would never have struck a superior, because he knew the consequences. He apologised for his conduct and assured the Court of his good behaviour in the future.

Lieut. Cotter, in a brief address to the Court, stated that accused had admitted being drunk and had been fined for it as punishment. He knew the accused well, and his conduct, whether in barracks or training, was that of a good soldier. The trouble was he became "fighting drunk" and there was no intent.

Sentence of the Court will be promulgated later.

HONAM RUBBER STRIKE

EMPLOYERS MAY CLOSE DOWN

Canton, Apr. 24. The strike of women workers of the Honam rubber factories has been intensified with the participation of the Chinese Mechanics Association, with several thousands of members.

Strike pickets are remaining near the factories to prevent other workers from blacklegging. Proprietors of the rubber factories hold an emergency meeting this afternoon to discuss the situation. It was resolved to appeal to the strikers to resume work, to maintain the present uniform rates of wages for all workers and to present their grievances to the Kuomintang and Government authorities. The owners threaten to remove to Hongkong.

TANGKU TRUCE BREACH DENIAL

SECRET ANNEXES. PROPAGANDA

(Special to "Telegraph")

Nanking, April 25. In refuting a Japanese allegation that the Chinese Government has not fulfilled the obligations of the Tangku Truce Agreement, which probably refers to the non-restoration of postal and railway communication with Manchuria, a Nanking Government spokesman declared that no secret annex was attached to the Tangku Truce Agreement.

He hoped that his countrymen would not be misled by such propaganda which was purposely spread by the Japanese to embarrass Nanking.—Central News.

Radio Revolution Possible

EXPERIMENTS IN MICRO-WAVES

London, April 25.

A radio-revolution may result from experiments now being conducted by Marconi to harness much shorter wireless waves.

He is at present engaged in the first regular communication tests using wave-lengths of 60/60 centimetres over distances of a hundred miles, between stations near Liphorn and Genoa.

Interviewed over the telephone by the Morning Post, Signor Marconi stated that they were obtaining very fair reliability in reception although not so good as he wanted.

There was no apparent difference between day and night reception, but there were other variations of which they did not yet know the cause.

He added that micro waves extended very greatly the range of wireless and would be thought to be applicable to television. They would have the advantage that there would be no interference of any kind.—Reuter.

"MARCONI DAY"

FAMOUS INVENTOR 60 TO-DAY

London, Apr. 24.

Marchese Marconi, inventor and founder of wireless communication, celebrates his sixtieth birthday to-morrow. According to a decision unanimously agreed to by representatives of over 60 countries at the Comité International Radio Maritime, April 25th will be known in marine wireless services throughout the world as Marconi Day.

The first commercial application of wireless was to ships at sea. Only thirty years ago ships were cut off from the rest of the world when they were out of sight of land. Now some 16,000 are equipped with wireless, and this is only one of the momentous changes that have developed from Marconi's discoveries.—British Wireless.

OPEN GOLF UPSET

JOHN DE FOREST BEATEN

MICHAEL SCOTT HAS TO STRUGGLE

(Special to "Telegraph")

London, Apr. 24.

The first round of the English Amateur Golf Championship was completed over the Formby links to-day.

Sensations were not many, most of the most prominent players getting through without great difficulty. There were, however, two very thrilling games, one providing a complete upset, and the other a brilliant recovery which averted another.

John de Forest, the former British amateur champion, fell by the wayside. He was beaten by Whitson, a comparatively unknown golfer from Chester.

The Hon. Michael Scott, captain of Britain's Walker Cup team and British champion, was given a thorough scare by Sehnuk of Buxton. He was two down with seven plays, but he recovered splendidly, wiped off the deficit and won the match on the last hole, one up.—Reuter Special.

London, April 24.

Answering a Parliamentary question regarding the present conditions in Newfoundland, the Dominions Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas, said the Commissioners had not yet had time to submit any considered general report, but since the new Government in Newfoundland took office they had recommended expenditure of $400,000 on able-bodied relief in the current financial year, in addition to the $1,000,000 already incurred, and also a further $10,000 per month for relief in districts where no vegetables are available.—British Wireless.

Scientific Work By Navy

SURVEYING SHIPS' CONTRIBUTIONS

London, Apr. 24.

The work done last year in promoting safety at sea and in extending scientific knowledge by the Naval surveying service is recorded in a report by Captain Edgell, the Hydrographer of the Navy.

Eight surveying ships were again employed, four in Home waters and four in foreign stations.

Those in Home waters were engaged in a tidal stream survey of British water which will take years to complete.

Of the surveying ships engaged abroad, Challenger landed a winter survey party in Labrador and will pick up the members next July.

Endeavour worked off the West coast of Africa and Palestine and made large scale harbour surveys at Malta and deep soundings in the Atlantic.

Herald was employed off the south coast of China, the east coast of Malaya and the west coast of Borneo and also carried out a series of astrolabe observations in those latitudes.

Ormonde surveyed in the Persian Gulf and examined shoals and areas of magnetic disturbance in the Red Sea and Atlantic.

A great many new charts and corrections were made. The Report acknowledges useful and important information from the Hydrographic Departments of Dominion and foreign governments with whom, according to custom, new charts and other documents are freely exchanged.—British Wireless.

ALL ARE BORN TO OBSERVE LAWS; FEW ARE BORN TO ESTABLISH THEM.—Cortley.

The police are endeavouring to trace the owner of a silver pocket watch, attached to a black leather chain with a medallion with the letter "L" on it, which was found in possession of a man, Chan Hung, who was charged before Mr. Hamilton this morning with unlawful possession of the watch at the football ground at Caroline Hill on Sunday afternoon, and was remanded for seven days. The watch bears the words: "Chronometre, Invicta."

Yick Ho-sang, the public motor-car driver, who is alleged to have knocked down five people in Canton Road on Saturday evening last, made another appearance before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning. The charges against defendant are (1) failing to drive public car No. 427 with due care and caution and (2) failing to stop after a collision. Traffic Inspector Saunders told the Court that none of the injured people was likely to die, although at one time one of them was suspected to have sustained a fractured skull. The case was fixed for hearing at 2.30 p.m. to-morrow. Bail was fixed at $200.

CHEVROLET'S KNEE-ACTION WHEELS absorb the BUMPS and SHOCKS

This happens when you HIT A BUMP in a car WITHOUT KNEE-ACTION WHEELS.

The bump not only raises the front wheel, but causes the whole car to tilt. Passengers feel the violent jolt.

BUT KNEE-ACTION WHEELS ARE SAFE, STEADY and COMFORTABLE on any kind of road. Each wheel is free to rise or fall according to the road. The car itself is stable, and the Knee-Action springs absorb the jolt before they reach the passengers.

Get behind the wheel yourself and see how much Knee-Action Wheels add to your Comfort, Safety and ease of control.

Put Pebeco—half an inch or so—on your tooth brush when you clean your teeth.

Notice how it stimulates the glands, you feel the cleansing moisture rushing into every crevice, washing away every lurking food remnant, and purifying the whole mouth. Your teeth are actually bathing in a cleansing, germ-destroying flow.

Rinse and gargle mouth and throat, and you will have a feeling of mouth cleanliness and freshness never before experienced.

The salty, invigorating flavour of Pebeco is proof of its medical value.

WIDOW. ROBBED OF $1,260

TWO MEN SENT TO PRISON

Chan Tat-ka, a vegetable gardener, and his wife, Lai Kam-yuet, were charged before Mr. Hamilton, at the Central Magistracy this morning, with the theft of $1,260 from a widow, Cheung Sun, at an unnumbered hut on the hillside at Tai Hang village, Bay View District.

Sergeant Kelly said the first defendant was a grand nephew of the complainant and lived a little distance away from where the complainant lived. Complainant went to the country on April 5 and returned on April 23. She left the money in a box in the house, and during her absence the first defendant stole it. When they were arrested a sum of over $500 in banknotes was found on the second defendant, and a similar amount on the hillside. $1,147.60 had been recovered.

Mr. Hamilton remarked it was a

CUP FINAL PROSPECTS: WHAT I THINK—"PILGRIM"

IN THE WARS.—Crowe, the West Bromwich Albion goalkeeper, receives attention after being slightly injured against Chelsea at Stamford Bridge.

WITH THE LEAGUERS

CHELSEA AND ARSENAL IN GREAT LONDON "DERBY"

PENSIONERS' CHANCE TO REMAIN IN FIRST DIVISION

BOLTON WILL PROBABLY MAKE THEIR PROMOTION CERTAIN

(By "The Pilgrim")

Something of the flavour of great battles of old between Woolwich Arsenal and Chelsea will attach to their game this week-end although it will still be a fight against relegation on the part of the latter.

The Londoners, although safe with the League championship, will play their usual game—to collect points anywhere—and with the much improved attacking line which the Stamford Bridge force have lately brought into play, the match should attract a goodly crowd to the Chelsea venue.

Newcastle have much deadlier opposition in their visit to Stoke where clubs of wider renown than the Tynesiders have been laid low. Birmingham, the other closely interested team in the danger zone, go to Leicester where if they can display the brilliant form which beat the Spurs, they will at least temporarily relieve the situation.

Swansea and Manchester United, between whom lies the choice of a companion for Lincoln on the down trip to the Third Division meet at Old Trafford where it may be that the issue will be decided.

Much more interesting, however, is that other fight at the top end of the table where Bolton and Preston, both confidently anticipating home wins, are engaged in a duel of goal averages.

BOLTON FAVOURED.

"Should" one of them falter, the other is pretty sure to join hands with Grimsby on the glad trail upwards, but even yet Brentford may have a finger in the pie. Preston have the most difficult task; they have to maintain their wins against Southampton whose home ground is reckoned one of the safest in all the League.

All things considered, Bolton should carry the day and regain their First Division status after only one season down below.

The same cannot be predicted of Chesterfield, gambling with points in the Northern Section.

Standing second now on goal-average, the Salter Lane side have done everything to risk the perfectly sound position they occupied only a month ago. I can well recall a similar exciting position to the present a couple of seasons ago when I believe it was Tranmere Rovers who defied worsting until the last match of the season.

Buoyed up with enthusiasm and lots of punch the Centrefolians won their last match by about seven goals and entered the Second Division.

I wonder whether this season will see a repetition of those thrilling games. Looking at the fixtures I can see that Chesterfield have by far the most strenuous road to travel and if they do not arrive safely they will have thrown away their promotion chances by folly.

Real "clashes" lost at home aggravated their supporters and lost valuable points.

BARNESLEY MAY MEET THEIR WATERLOO.

Both Barnesley and Chesterfield should make certain of the brace this week end on May 5, the latter have to go to Stockport who may be then also have a promotion interest, and will in any case be a tremendous nut to crack. Barnesley meet the comparatively easy New Brighton club but perhaps the New Brighton eleven may get together to settle the issue themselves.

On reflection that is more than a mere suggestion. It may well be that Barnesley will fall at New Brighton the same as Northampton triumphed at Huddersfield! The Southern Section victors were assured on Saturday and from the competitive point of view there is no more interest except in Cardiff who have still a chance of selling the dummy to Bournemouth.

Motherwell's second accession to the Scottish throne will be short-lived now that Rangers have stowed away one trophy in their already well-filled chest and have time to turn their attention to the double. Motherwell have completed their quota of matches and are only a point ahead of Rangers who have three more matches to play.

Interesting Items About Clubs & Players

(Continued from Columns 3 & 4.) PLAYING with Southport are two players named Jones, the brothers William and Archibald Pickering, and two half-backs both named Thomas Holmes. Awkward for the football writers!

DIXIE Dean is back in Everton's reserve team after two runs with the League side following his cartilage operation. He still needs time to get back to his old form.

Of all the eighty-eight League clubs only two still have the same secretary or manager they had before the war, Fred Everiss and Robert Jack having been in charge of West Bromwich and Plymouth Argyle since 1903 and 1909 respectively.

TEN years with the same Third Division club—Alf Jones, Wrexham's captain and full-back. He has played in 420 League games.

BRISTOL Rovers have done a good stroke of business in purchasing that eighteen-year-old local inside left, Albert Edwards, to become a professional. He is a deadly shot.

IN a recent minor game between Allendale and High Spens Welfore in Co. Durham five goals were scored direct from corner kicks.

SHEFFIELD Wednesday are reorganising their team. "We are going to have one of the best sides in the country," says Manager Walker.

STOCKPORT are running their present successful team on a weekly wages bill of about £55.

A team composed entirely of players named Giles took part in a recent match at Cricklade, near Swindon.

CITY'S DEFENCE TO BE SEVERELY TESTED

BUT MY VOTE GOES TO THE LADS FROM MANCHESTER

CLASSIC FOOTBALL PROMISED TO 90,000 FANS

(By "The Pilgrim")

WEMBLEY fans are due for one of the greatest football entertainments that the coveted trophy has ever called forth when Manchester City and Portsmouth meet there on Saturday to decide possession of the F. A. Cup. Every year the ninety odd thousand make their pilgrimage and seldom are they disappointed.

If the signs and portents are a true guide, the 1933-34 season will close with a cup final exhibition of class against class, with a little extra polish for experience in the case of the veteran Citizens.

Right here I will place my vote for Manchester City as thousands of others will, for as fighters in the particular type of play which this competition demands, the Midlanders have won their laurels.

The City have on their side a powerful combination which has carried them well up the League table; has brought destruction to the hopes of the other cup favourites, Aston Villa; and has taken them past the challenges of Stoke City, Wednesday, and Hull.

TEST FOR CITY'S DEFENCE

Their goal average, however is 59 for and 69 against which would inspire confidence were it not that Portsmouth's League record is inferior.

At the beginning of the season the critics pointed askance at the City's defence and their doubt has been justified. It remains to be seen whether the classic movements of their rival will outstrip their rearguard.

Portsmouth opened the 1933-4 season with a host of new players and they chose well. The team has kept together with few changes and had they not such a strong interest in the cup they would probably have been in the running for the League championship.

Whilst Manchester City have appeared in the semi-finals five times, the final three times once being successful against Bolton Wanderers in 1904, Portsmouth have only appeared in one semi-final and final. That was in 1929 also against the Wanderers who beat them 2-0.

The City will be anxious to make good the reversal they received in the final round at the hands of their fellow county-men, Everton, last year. They have been unfortunate in being pipped on the post twice within recent years, Bolton being responsible in 1926.

INTERESTING ITEMS ABOUT CLUBS AND PLAYERS

THE future of several Arsenal players is in the balance. Centre forward James Dunne has not shown the form which made his name, and there is the suggestion that the air of the south does not agree with him.

HUGHIE Gallacher has taken over the role of penalty kicker for Chelsea very successfully in the absence of Tommy Law, who usually officiates when "spot" concessions are granted.

It's curious, but neither of the two Mills—George, an Englishman, with Chelsea, and Hugh, a Scotsman, with West Ham—can find his way into the League side, though both were highly rated at the beginning of the season.

IT is said that 31,000 more spectators have paid for admission to Clapton Orient's home League matches compared with last season. This gives an average of about 2,000 more per game.

MANCHESTER City's longest thrower-in from touch is Brooks (outside left). Whenever the ball is to be thrown in near the corner flag on his side he does the job, and usually manages to put the ball up to the near post.

WEST Ham want to dispose of some of their players who have not been much before the public this season. Negotiations are in progress.

BRENTFORD want a new centre half. They have been watching the matches recently at Lea Bridge, and it is possible that the reputation of Fellows has reached their ears.

BRENTFORD share with Grimsby Town and Portsmouth the distinction of being the only clubs in the League who have not made a centre forward change this season.

WHEN Manchester United introduced Alnsworth to their forward line last week he was the thirty-fourth player they had called upon, and the seventh inside right.

NUNHEAD F.C., one of the oldest amateur clubs in the country, used their new stand for the first time recently. The club recently secured an extension of their lease until 1941.

OVERHEARD at a London Combination match:—Director: "Three first-team men in the side, and just look at 'em!" His friend: "Yes; when they're in the first team, they play first-team football; when they're with the reserves they're out of their element."

THERE is no truth in the rumours that Mr. "Bill" McCracken is to sever his connection with Millwall at the end of the present season.

HIS first season at The Den has not been as successful as was anticipated, but few clubs have had so many players on the injured list.

Moore, Leeds United goalkeeper, punches clear when a Spurs' forward presses.

ST. JOSEPH'S MAY MAKE CHA

(By "Veritas").

It is rather a pity that St. Joseph's have matters such as protests, ineligible players, lost points, possible replays, etc., on their mind to-day just at the time they are due to engage in the most important league match of the season.

I expect they will be able to dismiss such apparent trivialities, but I would have preferred that this afternoon's encounter with the Borderers be an all-or-nothing sort of thing. A grand and glorious finish to the season, make the result.

As it is, it seems more likely that the league championship will rest on whether a policeman is an

IS ABOUT.POLICE PLAYER SAID TO BE UNREGISTERED.

St. Joseph's are protesting against their match with the Police, which ended in a draw last Saturday, on the grounds that Rose, the Police centre-forward, was an unregistered player at the time.

The complaint will come before the committee on Friday of this week, and if the case is proved, precedence will probably be followed, and a replay ordered. The suggestion made in some quarters that St. Joseph's will drop the protest if they win this afternoon cannot hold good, as rules provide that only in exceptional circumstances, can a protest be withdrawn.

eligible footballer or not. Which is something of an anti-climax after the way football fans have been working themselves up for the supposedly tremendous issue of this afternoon.

SAINTS DOUBTFUL.

However, in regard to to-day's match, the Borderers will be at full

MATCH.KOWLOON F. C. THE VENUE.

To-day's league match between the Borderers and St. Joseph's will be played on the Kowloon F.C. ground, kicking-off at 5 o'clock. Originally the fixture was a home game for the Borderers, but the Soekunpoo arena is occupied.

Defeat for the Borderers will practically end their hopes of the championship. If St. Joseph's are beaten, they will rely on the result of their protest against the ineligibility of one of the Police players, in the hopes that a replay will be ordered, which would thus give them the opportunity of regaining points.

strength. St. Joseph's are just a little bit doubtful.

I was informed this morning: "We shall not make up our minds about the combination of the team until just before the game. It will quite likely be as usual, although there may be positional changes, and even one or two alterations in personnel."

So that until 5 o'clock we can only guess at the Saints' line-up. Anyhow, Ward is fit again after his injury sustained against the Club.

Frankly I doubt if the Saints will tamper about with their team. The wisdom of such a policy is open to real doubts. Whatever shortcomings there may have been, the fact remains that they have become accustomed to a certain combination, and to introduce new blood at this stage, or even to change about the old players, is more likely to upset the team than to help it.

But that is a matter for Mr. Goldenberg and his colleagues. The Borderers are satisfied. They appreciate a winning team when they possess one, and not even last Sunday's reverse has upset this outlook. Which is a good thing.

Here are the most likely line-ups:

U.S.
WIGHTMAN
TEAMFIVE STRONG PLAYERS

New York, April 24. The United States Lawn Tennis Association to-day announced the composition of the American Wightman Cup team to play at Wimbledon this year. The following powerful side has been selected.

Miss Helen Jacobs (playing captain)
Miss Alice Marble
Miss Sarah Palfrey
Miss Josephine Crickshank
Miss Carolyn Babcock

As anticipated, Mrs. Helen Williams Moody has had to relinquish her position owing to the breakdown in health which she suffered last year, and from which she is now but slowly recovering.

Four of the five selected players appeared in the successful team which defeated the Englishwomen at Forest Hills last August, and all of the players are among the first six in the American national ranking list for 1933.

If last year's event is any criterion, Miss Helen Jacobs and Miss Sarah Palfrey will bear the burden of the singles and may possibly be called upon to take one of the doubles. Last August they won four rubbers between them, Miss Jacobs defeating both Miss Round and Miss Scriven, and in company with Miss Palfrey, overcame Miss Round and Miss Healey in a doubles. Miss Palfrey defeated Miss Scriven, but lost to Dorothy Round.

Miss Babcock played in the fifth singles, losing to Miss Nuthall, while Miss Alice Marble played in a doubles with Mrs. J. Van Ryn, which they lost to Miss Nuthall and Miss James.

The Wightman Cup contest will be staged at Wimbledon this year, the matches being scheduled for June 16 and 16.

Regarding the proposed Governor's Cup match on May 6.

The Football Association wrote them last week asking if they would turn out a team on Saturday week to decide this competition, but up to this morning nothing had been heard from the Federation.

The F.A. are also waiting to hear whether the Federation are prepared to play the China Olympic team versus Rest of the Colony on Sunday on the Club ground.

Miss Helen Jacobs, who will lead the American Wightman Cup team at Wimbledon this year.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Heralded as the greatest example of motion picture craftsmanship in film history, an actual reproduction of the Louisa M. Alcott home in Concord, Mass., was constructed as the setting for RKO-Radio Pictures' screen version of her famous story, "Little Women," coming to the Central Theatre. The home, complete down to the last piece of bric-a-brac and surrounding lawns and gardens, was constructed on a three-acre plot near Hollywood, from hundreds of photographs, drawings and descriptions obtained by a special staff of artisans working in Concord by special permission. The film is enacted by a cast headed by Katharine Hepburn, Frances Dee, Joan Bennett, Jean Parker, and Spring Byington. George Cukor directed.

"Sitting Pretty"

Repeat has failed to find any ardent supporters among the chorus girls of Hollywood. A poll of the eighty-four girls engaged in production numbers for the Paramount musical-comedy hit, "Sitting Pretty" coming on Thursday to the King's Theatre, indicates that repeat will not change their drinking habits. The girls appear in two lavish production spectacles in this new picture which depicts the incredible and hilarious adventures in Hollywood of Jack Oakie and Jack Haley, two impetuous but high-spirited song writers. Both are in love with that lovely red-head, Ginger Rogers, but Jack Haley finally wins her hand after a series of mad-cap escapades. Much of the fun in the picture centres about Haley's desperate efforts to rescue his irresponsible team-mate from the clutches of designing beauties.

"His Double Life"

As undeniable proof of her versatility and true greatness, Lillian Gish has forsaken her old tragic characterizations and returns to the screen in a romantic comedy. It is "His Double Life" co-starring Roland Young and opening to-morrow at the Alhambra. For more than twenty years, the pensively beautiful actress has been called America's greatest tragedienne. Even when she left the screen recently for her remarkable success on Broadway she played nothing but tragic roles. Many of her screen roles were filled with tears, desolation and heartbreak: "Intolerance," "Broken Blossoms," "Orphans of the Storm" and "The Scarlet Letter" to mention a few of the greatest. But when Director Arthur Hopkins was casting "His Double Life," adapted from Arthur Bennett's novel, "Buried Alive," and the play, "The Great Adventure," he found that he needed an actress who could play a gentle, demure, little English woman. She would have to marry the wrong man, yet be perfectly content with him. She would have to know how to extract all the comedy from the scenes which showed her mothering her shy, nervous and erratic husband. Mr. Hopkins knew of no one better equipped to play the role than Lillian Gish. Although Miss Gish was spending a vacation in Europe, Hopkins wired her that he had a comedy role open for her. Without pausing to inquire as to terms or details, she wired her acceptance and hurried back to take the part.

"I Am Suzanne"

If the audiences at the King's Theatre are an indication of what the public thinks of Lillian Harvey, there need be no question as to her popularity. Her performance in Jesse L. Lasky's Fox Film production, "I Am Suzanne" is such a grand job that she eclipses anything she has hitherto done, either in Hollywood or Europe. The romance, the sensational revue numbers and the photographic wonders of the picture brand "I Am Suzanne" as one of the most spectacular productions ever to come from Hollywood. The Podrecca Piccoli Marionettes, which are employed throughout the major part of the film, lend a unique background to the production. It is now to the screen and refreshing in its novelty. Gene Raymond, who plays opposite Miss Harvey, gives a performance that outdoes anything he has ever done in his long career. The supporting cast which includes such stellar names as Leslie Banks, Georgia Caine, Geneva Mitchell, Halliwell Hobbes, Murray Kinnell and Edward Keene.

COUNCIL NOMINEE.

MIL OWEN HUGHES PROPOSED FOR VACANCY.

The Hon. Sir Henry Pollock, K.C., is proceeding to England via Canada on holiday by the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada on May 4, accompanied by Lady Pollock.

They are returning to Hongkong on January 10 next year, travelling via Suez.

We understand that during Sir Henry's absence, Mr. J. Owen Hughes, who has had considerable experience on the Legislative Council, will be proposed as a candidate for election by the Justices of the Peace, by the Hon. Sir Henry Pollock, seconded by the Hon. Sir Shouson Chow.

all give splendid performances under the fine direction of Rowland V. Lee.

"Crime of the Century"

Jean Harsholt, Stuart Erwin, Wynne Gibson and Frances Dee head the cast of "The Crime of the Century," mystery drama in a new style, which opens to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre. Gordon Westcott and David Landau have the principal supporting roles. "The Crime of the Century" offers two innovations in presentation of a mystery story. First, the crime is confessed to police before it is committed, and yet is carried through while they watch. Second, halfway through, there is a 30-second intermission, during which the various clues to the solution are reviewed briefly, and the audience is invited to attempt to solve it. The picture centres around Harsholt, an alienist, who walks into a police station, tells the assembled officers that he has planned a murder, describes how it will be carried through, and begs to be locked up so that he will be unable to commit it. Impressed by his manner as well as his reputation, officers accompany him to his home. And there, while they look on, powerless to prevent it, not only the murder he has planned, but a second one, takes place. Erwin, as a police reporter, and Miss Dee, as the daughter of the alienist, combine to solve both crimes from the few unimportant-looking clues available. Miss Gibson is cast as one of the two victims, with Landau as a detective. B. P. Schulberg produced the film for Paramount.

"Kennel Murder Case"

Who killed Archer Coe? That is the most baffling question that Philo Vance, the famous and detouring detective character created by S. S. Van Dine, and impersonated by William Powell in the Warner Bros. picture, "The Kennel Murder Case," which is now showing at Alhambra ever has been asked upon to answer. Archer Coe is found dead in his bed room with a revolver in his hand and not a sign of a struggle and with the door locked. He has a bullet in his brain and a scalp abrasion. The police consider it a case of suicide until Philo Vance walks into the scene and through a series of deductions, proves that it is a murder and not a suicide and then proceeds to discover the murderer. Not only is "The Kennel Murder Case" one of the most mysterious of all of Van Dine's stories in which seven persons are found to have both a motive for the crime and an opportunity to have committed it, but it carries a strange love tangle which is eventually unravelled by Vance. The picture has a strong cast in support of Powell and includes such noted players as Mary Astor, Eugene Pallette, Ralph Morgan, Helen Vison, Jack La Rue, Paul Cavanaugh, Robert Barrat, Arthur Hohl and Henry O'Neill. The picture was directed by Michael Curtiz, one of the greatest directors of mystery dramas. From the screen play by Robert N. Lee and Peter Milne.

"Flying Down To Rio"

An orchestra that flies about the ball-room over the head of the dancers, is one of the intriguing novelties presented in RKO-Radio Pictures musical extravaganza, "Flying Down To Rio" will be shown at the Oriental Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. It is said to be but one of more than a score of unique stunts presented on the screen in this production. Climaxing with a spectacular and thrilling aerial musical show, 100 girls dancing and singing on the wings of airplanes as they soar above beautiful Rio de Janeiro, the film is enacted by an all-star cast headed by Dolores del Rio, Fred Astaire, Ginger Rogers, Gene Raymond and Raul Roulien in romantic roles.

Specially devised for young children by a doctor who made a study of their particular ailments, Baby's Own Tablets are guaranteed to contain absolutely no ingredients likely to harm the delicate internal organs of the very young. For infantile constipation, indigestion, cramp and colds, feverishness, sleeplessness, diarrhoea, when the stomach is upset, and to expel worms, there is nothing better than a dose or two of Baby's Own Tablets. Furthermore, by settling the stomach the Tablets ease the pains of teething and induce sleep in a perfectly normal, healthy way. TRIAD SOCIETY SQUABBLE

MOTOR BOAT MEN IN FIGHT

A fight between two motor-boat men occurred at Blake Pier last night. A hammer was picked up on the scene, but police cannot say whether it was used. The two combatants, Pang For, 17, of the motor-boat Fei Chau, and Lo Kam-yau, 18, of the motor-boat Kwong Chau, were brought before Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Police Court this morning. The second man had a bandage round his head.

Sergeant D. Reldy said one of the men asked the other to join a Triad Society, and he refused.

First defendant said that as the second man had threatened him, he had to resort to arming himself with a hammer.

First defendant was fined $10 or ten days' hard labour, and the second defendant was fined $5 with the alternative of five days' hard labour, and both were bound over to keep the peace.

MAN CAUGHT WITH FOUR GALLONS

Employed as a coolie in the P.W.D. depot in Tai Kok Tsui, Chan Ying was charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning with theft of a four-gallon tin of petrol.

Inspector Muir said defendant was stopped in Shingchi Street yesterday, and when questioned admitted that he had taken the petrol out of the depot.

His Worship:—This must have gone on for some time.

An official of the depot told the Court that it was almost impossible to check the stocks if only a little was taken out at a time.

Sentence of six weeks was passed.

penalties because the first defendant admitted that he intended to use the hammer; it is a dangerous instrument," remarked the Magistrate.

SILVER SLUMP IN NEW YORK

PANICKY SELLING THE CAUSE

INFLATION HOPE GOING

New York, Apr. 24. The Wall Street Journal reports that the market broke sharply, due to a two hundred point break in silver and a corresponding weakness in the majority of commodities on the belief that inflation plans would be held in abeyance. The unexplained rally near the close was probably a technical reaction as the market recovered some of its losses.

Silver futures were weak all day long, but the decline was accelerated, due to publication of the names of silver holders, which traders regarded as an indication of the Administration's fight against silver legislation this session, wherefore traders took profits. The silver market broke on panicky liquidation, aggravated by stop loss selling. A considerable quantity of silver was being exported to London, owing to a large London premium.—Per Signa Culbertson and Fritz.

FAR EAST SELLING.

New York, Apr. 24. Messrs. E. A. Pierce and Co., reporting on the silver market, state:—Heavy selling was credited to Far Eastern accounts, together with local liquidation on the uncertainty in connection with silver legislation becoming uncovered stop-loss orders causing a break. Liquidation for May was absorbed on the scale-down by interest with banking connections.—Asia Lands per Reuter.

The Prince of Wales is Patron of the expedition.—British Wire-Press.

ST. MIRREN WIN AT PARTICK

BY THE ODD GOAL OF FIVE

London, April 24. Visiting Partick Thistle today, the unsuccessful Scottish Cup finalists, St. Mirren won their postponed Scottish League encounter, scoring three goals to two.—Reuter.

The Canton Amateur Theatrical Society will present "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" at the Canton Club Theatre on Friday and Saturday next. In spite of various setbacks owing to sickness of several members of the cast it is expected that this will be a most entertaining show.

Reflecting the weakness of silver, the Hongkong dollar dropped a further this morning to 1s. 5.1/8d.

MURDER OF TWO FOREIGNERS

DEATH SENTENCE ON ARABS

GLOBE-TROTTER TRAGEDY

(Special to "Telegraph")

Baghdad, Apr. 24. Scores of Bedouins from the surrounding desert crowded the little courtroom in the village of Diwaniyah to listen to the concluding stages of the trial of four Arabs charged with murder.

The case arose out of an affair which shocked the European population a little while ago, two young German-American globe-trotters, named Rudolf May and Fisher, being attacked by Arab tribesmen and killed.

The foreigners were attempting to cruise round the world in a canoe and were attacked while travelling between Iraq and India. The motive was apparently robbery.

All four accused were found guilty and sentenced to death.—Reuter Special.

It being established by the Property Book that the man did not have any money when searched, Leung Chui, aged 78, who was charged with begging, was discharged by Mr. Macfadyen in the Central Police Court this morning. An Indian constable stated he saw defendant begging in Wellington Street near Queen's Road and receive a few coppers which he placed in a cloth bag. Defendant pleaded he had pains and was merely holding his stomach.
